

UPHOLD PRESIDENT WILSON

Any man who has one sixtieth of a grain of Democratic blood coursing through his veins will place his ballot on next Tuesday, November 3rd, for the candidates who stand by President Wilson.

Any man who has the true progressive spirit irrespective of party will put his ballot for the party in national supremacy and thus assure to the country that President Wilson is maintaining the proper attitude in our foreign and domestic policies.

Any man who has the slightest conviction that President Wilson is putting his shoulder to the wheel and pushing in the right direction will go to the election next Tuesday and give the President a vote of thanks for the good he has done. No more panics, no war, no more whisky in the White House, no more monopolies in business, no more restraints of trade, no more exploitations by the wealthy class of the lives of children, (we stand for the right of every child, to a childhood free from grinding toil, and to an education.), no more harassing of labor

How to Support Wilson

If you are for Woodrow Wilson and his policies you should vote for Democratic candidates for the Senate and House of Representatives who will support and aid him in the execution of those policies. You cannot uphold him by voting for Republicans who will oppose him in the next congress, as they have in the present congress.

If you believe that President Wilson is a Safe Man; if you believe that he is working for the Best Interests of the country; if you believe that the things which he has done are based upon Right Principles; if you believe that he should be allowed to continue the work which he has begun, you should vote for the men who will uphold him. Republicans in the next Senate and House, for political purposes will oppose him and his policies. Democrats will sustain him.

A vote for Democratic candidates for the Senate and for Democratic members of the House is a vote for Wilson. A vote for Republican candidates is a vote against Wilson. There is no middle ground.

Vote for your own interests. Vote for Wilson men!

WILSON AND LINCOLN

From the San Francisco Star (Ind.)
"Woodrow Wilson is Abraham Lincoln with educational advantages—born and bred in a different environment. The same primitive virtues, refined and set in order; the same directness, sincerity and tenacity of purpose; the same self-forgetfulness in thought for the country. Lincoln's exterior characteristics were picturesque because back of them lived the man. It is idle to contend that had the rail-splitter done his sums on a blackboard in a well-appointed schoolroom, instead of on the back of a fire shovel in the flickering light of a back log, it would have been a disadvantage. His life among backwoods men and frontiersmen gave him insight to the character of the more primitive man the foundation strength of a new and expanding country. Missing this, except by study, imagination, feeling, Woodrow Wilson knows the men of the world. In neither instance was environment, education of opposite kind, able to keep back development. The quality of manhood asserts itself and is identical."

The Under Dog in the Fight

"There are many things about the present Democratic administration with which the Tribune is not pleased; there are others which will surely commend it to the genuine admiration of future generations. We might as well award Woodrow Wilson the medal of praise which will be given him on the historic page. He has taken a stand for the man at the bottom, the under dog in the fight, not only in our own country, but also on the continent. He has perceived the root of the trouble in Mexico and he is seeking a treaty of amity and peace with that beleaguered nation which will bring about a better state of affairs for the common people. He realizes that all the trouble from which Mexico has suffered originated in unjust laws and oppressive conditions and he wishes to change that. He insists that hereafter the happiness of the laborers shall be conserved. And he is right."—Altoona Tribune (Republican).

Labor Backs Democrats

"That the President is right in his anti-trust program is evident to all who consider the real interests of the whole nation.
"Organized labor of America staunchly supports the position of the President in his anti-trust program, as passed by the House of Representatives.
"The American Federation of Labor has for years been committed to anti-monopoly legislation. Now is the time to secure it.
"The representatives of the American Federation of Labor and the representatives of the railroad brotherhoods stand as a unit upon this legislation."—Editorial in American Federation of Labor Weekly News Letter.

WILSON, GREAT STATESMAN AND MASTER DIPLOMAT

From the San Francisco Independent.
The present situation in Europe, which may well be termed a world crisis, has resolved itself into a tribute to the executive ability and statesmanship of Woodrow Wilson, chief magistrate of the United States. Every first-class power with the exception of the United States of America is either at war or on the verge of it. We alone, of all the great nations, are at peace.

If we remember rightly, the Associated Jingoists of America did everything in their power to force the President into a war with Mexico. They put him into every ridiculous posture possible.
Woodrow Wilson by reason of these characteristics has proved himself to be the biggest man of the age and the ablest man that has occupied the Presidential chair since Abraham Lincoln. Every question that has come before him he has solved with an ease that seems remarkable because these same questions have kept the nation in a turmoil for the last twenty years.

Keeping us at peace with the world is a triumph in itself in view of the tremendous power of the interests that strove to embroil him in a deadly and profitless war. Woodrow Wilson has shown himself a man of the people with the interests of the people at heart, and cannot be swayed from serving them by the petty interests of anyone, rich or poor.

At every period when this Republic was threatened with a crisis, some great and Heaven-sent genius has arisen to preserve it. Apparently destiny looks with kindly eyes upon this nation, and the fact that a man of Wilson's calibre is guiding it bears the theory out. When the history of this age is written, there will be one man who will stand out bold and prominent against the dim twilight of time, and that man will be the great statesman and master diplomat, Woodrow Wilson.

WARM TRIBUTE TO WILSON

Bishop Oldham Says He Was Special-ly Raised Up for Present Crisis.

In a desire to hear Bishop Oldham of New York, former missionary to India, and at present Secretary of the Foreign Missionary Society, many visiting clergymen yesterday attended the meeting of the Methodist Ministers' Association, in Wesley Hall, No. 1013 Arch Street, Philadelphia. Bishop Oldham spoke at some length upon the missions in general, which had been the most gigantic work of the Christian churches in the past centuries. They would no doubt, he said, be hampered and even destroyed by the European war. In speaking of that great struggle he said that President Wilson was God's pre-ordained man, raised up to meet the great crisis in the world's history. Every patriotic citizen should support him.

What Senator LaFollette Says

Extracts from the Senator's weekly, in which he approves achievements of the administration.

"The United States has not recognized Huerta. The American people, aside from the few who have financial and speculative interests in Mexico, sustain President Wilson."

"The first important act of the State Department under Secretary Bryan is the rejection of the dollar diplomacy policy of Taft and Knox. Humanity is to be placed higher than property in our international affairs. Patriotism is to be given precedence over profits. National honor is to count for more than trust aggrandizement."

"President Wilson's speech at Mobile last week emphasizes anew the soundness of dollar diplomacy, and gives fresh promise of a new deal in our relations with our neighbors to the southward. Human rights, national integrity and opportunity as against material interest. That is the President's conception of the issue which we now have to face. That policy, faithfully followed, will lift our treatment of the smaller republics of South America from the low plane of greed to the high plane of honor."

"Mr. Voter, you already owe a debt to the President. When President Wilson read his message to Congress he took the first great step since the days of Washington to make American government as effective as parliamentary government elsewhere. * * * A few Presidents have been big enough to see over the Treasury building and fathom the devices of the Legislature, but President Wilson has stalked forth and entered the halls of Congress in person."

"The country is indebted to President Wilson for exploding the bomb that blew the lid off the Congressional lobby. He hurled his short-fuse missile directly at the insidious interference with tariff legislation but it resulted in uncovering the whole works. He touched it off at a time and in a way to force a Congressional investigation."

"Mr. Wilson's recommendation for the nomination of Presidential candidates by direct vote strikes at the root of a great wrong. If the government is to be brought back to the people it is quite as important to make the Executive Department serve public interest as it is to make the Legislative Department serve public interest."

"Upon President Wilson falls the burden of all that his immediate predecessors in office left behind them as a result of an effort to establish national prosperity through the benign influence of the Morgans and the Harrimans, and big business generally."

Workmen Backbone of Nation

"The working people of America, if they must be distinguished from the minority that constitutes the rest of it,—are, of course, the backbone of the nation. No law that safeguards their lives, that improves the physical and moral conditions under which they live, that make their hours of labor rational and tolerable, that gives them freedom to act in their own interest, and that protects them where they cannot protect themselves, can properly be regarded as class legislation or as anything but as a measure taken in the interest of the whole people, whose partnership in right action we are trying to establish and make real and practical."—Woodrow Wilson.

"We, the people, have not free access enough to our agents or direct control over them. There are barriers to break down and processes to simplify, which we liberals believe we know how to get at. We mean, by one change or another, to make our government genuinely popular and representative again."—Woodrow Wilson.

W. BOURKE COCKRAN

On the Proper Stand the People Should Take.

"The President being the only agency through which the nation can express itself the only way by which the American people can equip Mr. Wilson with this leadership, so essential to his weight among the nations, is by choosing at the approaching election candidates pledged to support his administration. The election now of a Republican Congress and of State executives opposed to him would be accepted everywhere as a popular condemnation of his whole administration, including the attitude assumed by him toward this war."

"The main object of what we are attempting, both in State and nation, is to establish a close connection, a very sensitive connection, between the people and their governments, both in the states and in the nation, in order that we may restore in such wise as will satisfy us again the liberty and the opportunity in whose interests our governments were conceived."—Woodrow Wilson.

THE QUALITY OF WOODROW WILSON

From Editorial in the Kansas City Star, Bull Moose.

Tariff revision is now followed by currency reform.

The President's name is used in connection with this measure because it is primarily Mr. Wilson's measure. When President Taft left office the enactment of a currency bill seemed as far away as ever. "When will there be currency reform?" was asked a leading banker. "Possibly after another panic," he answered.

Congress was still in the midst of the Tariff Bill when President Wilson went to the Capitol and addressed the houses on the necessity of following tariff revision with currency reform.

Seasoned politicians smiled at his rashness, but they found they had misjudged the caliber of the man. With patience, intelligence and force he set to work preparing the way for an adequate currency bill. Congressmen were pulling in a dozen different directions on the subject. There was no consensus of opinions. But the effective, quiet gentleman at the White House gradually got his organization into line.

Time after time there were revolts that threatened the success of the measure. Influential men kicked over the traces, but the President brought them back. Always on the job, never flustered, never losing his temper, but never for an instant forgetting or allowing others to forget his main object, he finally got the bill through both houses.

It was an impossible task, but Wilson did it.

After all, his previous career forecasted his success. At Princeton he made a great fight for democratic institutions. As Governor of New Jersey he brought one of the worst boss-ridden States of the Union into line for progressive measures.

As President he went into office with a comprehensive program of legislation devoted to what he called "the new freedom"—to opening the door of opportunity to all men.

The first of his measures to lessen the power of special privilege—the tariff revision—he pushed through with intelligence and dispatch. The second is now virtually out of the way.

A remarkable man. A great leader. An effective statesman. The country is just coming to realize the quality of Woodrow Wilson.

"The trained diplomats of Europe have been having more or less amusement over the so-called 'amateur diplomacy' of the Wilson Administration. The Wilson Mexican policy met with contempt by many foreign critics, but it prevented war, something that the 'masterly' European diplomacy seems to have been unable to do. As between the two kinds we will take the diplomacy of Wilson and Bryan and let Europe match it if it can."—Carlisle Sentinel.

HONOR ENOUGH FOR US ALL

I was quoting the other day to some of my colleagues in the Senate these lines from Shakespeare's "Henry V." which have always appealed to me, "If it be a sin to covet honor, then am I the most offending soul alive." I am happy to say that I do not covet it for myself alone. I covet it with equal ardor for the men who are associated with me, and the honor is going to come from them. I am their associate. I can only complete the work which they do. I can only counsel when they ask for my counsel. I can come in only when the last stages of the business are reached, and I covet this honor for them quite as much as I covet it for myself; and I covet it for the great party of which I am a member, because that party is not honorable unless it redeems its name and serve the people of the United States.—From Woodrow Wilson's remarks when he signed the Tariff Bill.

The feelings with which we face this new age of right and opportunity sweep across our heartstrings like some air out of God's own presence where justice and mercy are reconciled and the judge and the brother are one.—From President Wilson's inaugural address.

"With regard to the development of greater and more numerous waterways and the building up of a merchant marine, we must follow great constructive lines and not fall back upon a cheap device of bounties and subsidies."—Woodrow Wilson.

Support the President

The Pittsburgh Gazette-Times (a standpat Republican paper), published by United States Senator George T. Oliver of Pennsylvania, pays the President this generous tribute:

"President Wilson's personal appeal to his 'fellow-countrymen' to preserve strict neutrality in speech and conduct is timely in its proclamation and admirable in its tone and purpose. In essence it is a reminder that this country of ours is America, a grand fact which appears to have escaped the minds of some who would supplement the continental conflict, across the Atlantic by instigating controversies between natives of the countries now at war. Necessarily there are varying sympathies and hopes—it would be unnatural if there were not—but the future of every naturalized son of Great Britain, of Germany, of Russia, of France, of Austria-Hungary, of Belgium, and of Serbia in the United States is bound up with the people of the United States and not with the powers of Europe. To all such, as well as to native-born Americans, the President remarks that the moral effect of the war upon the United States will depend upon what American citizens say and do."

"President Wilson's proclamation deserves to be read by every thoughtful man and woman, and it should be translated into the tongues of those people of the United States who have drawn from many nations, and chiefly from the nations now at war."

"In a large way, whether there be implicit confidence in the Democratic party or not, President Wilson should be trusted to steer the American ship of state free of the infinite national perils of Europe's gigantic embroilment. Let us not forget that, much as game was made of his policy of 'watchful waiting' with regard to Mexico, it is now almost universally conceded that that proved to be the wise course. Imagine us at war with Mexico at this juncture, with Europe in the death grapple of the centuries! And if the President, as he must be, is relied upon to see us safely as a nation through the complications of an international strife which touches us in our fortunes and estate and in our personal comfort and prosperity, surely he may be heeded when he makes such an extraordinary appeal for the restraints of prudence in our speech and conduct."

"THANK GOD FOR WILSON"

Big Stick-Roosevelt; Big Bluff-Taft

Editor Chicago Journal:

President Wilson's masterful address to the American people at this juncture once again emphasizes the truth which is slowly but surely sinking into the consciousness of the people that they have reason to thank God that at this crisis they have at the head of their nation this remarkable man.

With the gruesome object-lesson before our eyes of a world war shaking the earth to its foundations it comes like a shock to let the mind turn back for a moment and think of what might have been. In what relation to this war would this nation, with its millions of peace-loving people, be today if fate had chosen as for President a good and kind but wholly man, or worse still, the Big Bluff?

In either case we would at this moment be embroiled in a grueling war with Mexico. A weak man would have been forced into the war when the howl of the jingo press, pulpit, and populace was at its worst. The Big Stick would never have waited for the howl to be heard before throwing the firebrand. A war with Mexico would almost inevitably have brought us into complications with one or more of the powers now at war.

Now, instead of a Mexican imbroglio and an international misadventure, we are at peace with the world and we have peace to the south of us, with the best of prospects that a government as nearly democratic as the Mexican genius can grasp is to be set up. And because of our firm, clean and unselfish attitude there will come to us the friendship not only of Mexico but of all of South America. Friendships which we had forfeited through former double-dealing and doubtful tactics, friendships which would be valuable to us at any time, but are invaluable to us just now.

And of all this—and more—due to that keen-minded, strong-hearted, noble-souled Democrat who could sit at the bedside of a dying consort of whose mortal sickness the world did not even hear, and put on the writing the policies of a nation.

What might have been—indeed! Well may this nation in all humbleness and with chastened heart thank God for Wilson!

HON. A. MITCHELL PALMER
Democratic Candidate for United States Senator.
Clean, Capable, Constructive, Conservative, Conscientious.

SKETCH OF LIFE IN BRIEF

Native born Pennsylvanian, graduate of Swarthmore College, member of the Society of Friends, an advocate of Peace because his religious belief taught him so and his parents, who were birth-right and loyal Friends, brought him to manhood under the influence of the sublime teachings of his church. He is so much in harmony with love for and devotion to his religious teachings that when President Wilson recently tendered him the portfolio United States Attorney General, he declined the position, fearing that the country may be involved in war and that he might need to surrender his convictions in order to conduct the office well. He turned a deaf ear to a lucrative office and to a position which would not only win him national fame but world-wide fame, simply because his religious faith taught peace and love and friendship instead of war, pestilence and ruin.

Do you think that the good people of the Commonwealth could go wrong by electing a man of that faith to the United States Senate? Do you think that a man of such firm convictions will surrender his moral conscience for a $25,000 check as Penrose did? Palmer has no bad habits, is a brilliant talker, a second Bryan, if not his equal; has a master mind, has the strength of character to withstand all temptations, all of which we have shown to you in this or previous issues of the Gazette, all attested to by Bryan, Wilson, Underwood, Champ Clark and a host of others—and with these sterling proofs and this sturdy manhood we hope that the citizens of Bedford County will turn out everywhere and give him the greatest victory ever achieved by anyone and put an end to the vicious taxation, plundering, infidelity, grafting, immorality of Penroseism in this great Commonwealth of ours.

A Citizen of the World

In politics, as in life generally, things which loom large momentarily have a way of shrinking out of posterity's sight, while events which at the moment nearly escaped remark grow in significance. It is impossible as yet to know just what Woodrow Wilson's place in history will be, dependent as it is on many and varied conclusions of unfinished business. That he has grown in esteem in very recent months, it would be idle to deny. His great grief has made men know him for what they have sometimes forgotten him to be: Not professor-only, not statesman and partisan alone, but a father—a man with man's responsibilities and trials. And now the President issues two important documents—an invitation to all persons to pray on a certain day that peace may be restored to Europe an announcement to his party managers that he will take no "swing around the circle" to mend the fences of his party's representatives in Congress. This decision is not a surprise to anyone who knows Wilson and his ways. Whatever his defects and angles and asperities—and time will soften them and we shall grow more conscious of his qualities—Mr. Wilson is an American patriot and a citizen, not of his own parish only, but of the world. His presidency, opening with the enactment of promised legislation, has been troubled by private bereavement, by Mexican explosions, by partisan ebullitions, and by the greatest war in present memory. Whatever mistakes we have charged the President with, we have never charged him with losing his head. His attitude toward events in Mexico and in Europe alike has been distinguished by a large mindedness that we frankly envy him. We congratulate this country of ours that he has been our White House ruler in those months of storm.—Collier's Weekly.

The big trust magnates are not favorable to the present administration. They can't adjust themselves to the idea that the government has the right to say anything about the way their business should be conducted.

Under Republican laws, the more currency was needed in this country, the less was available. Under the Democratic law, currency expands and contracts to meet the need.

OUR CANDIDATE FOR UNITED STATES SENATOR

What President Wilson said of Congressman Palmer:

"I do not know of any one by whom I would rather be vouched for than by Mitchell Palmer. I am proud indeed to appear under his auspices in his district and I want to say to you confidentially that not only could you not have a better representative in Congress but I do not know any district that has any better representative in Congress."

Hon. Oscar W. Underwood on Palmer:

"I have been in Congress for eighteen years. I have seen many men come to Washington to serve in the House of Representatives and go. I have seen many able men, but I want to say to you, merely as a matter of justice to my friend, that I know of no man in all the time that I have served in Congress who has come to Congress and in so short a time has obtained the high position in the House of Representatives, commanded the following and achieved the leadership that your own representative, A. Mitchell Palmer, has done."

William Jennings Bryan on Palmer:

"That stalwart representative of progressive Democracy, who in the House of Representatives speaks not only for Pennsylvania but speaks in part for the progressive Democracy of the United States I congratulate Pennsylvania upon having such a leader of the party as A. Mitchell Palmer."

Palmer

"The Democracy of Pennsylvania is keeping step with the most progressive Democracy of the country. Mr. Palmer is an ideal representative of advanced but well-balanced party thought and aspiration. There is probably no Democratic leader in the United States who is in closer mental accord with Mr. Wilson than the Pennsylvania Congressman. The intellectual affinity and kinship between them are natural and temperamental, not assumed for expediency, or the forced growth of circumstances. Just as Pinchot would have been a Progressive Republican without Roosevelt, so Palmer would have been a Progressive Democrat without Wilson. But Wilson has not only natural fires in him and gave him a flag and a leader. With enthusiasm, earnestness, deep conviction and a strong intellect he combines great political sagacity and practical sense, precisely the equipment that is most needed for successful leadership in his State."—Baltimore Sun.

"So far as the personal character of the Democratic nominees for United States Senator and Governor are concerned, one may say with truth that it is many a year since the Democratic party nominated men of such fine parts. Nor is there much in their public expressions to which one can object." * * * * *—Altoona Tribune (Rep.).

Editorial—Philadelphia North American, Thursday, May 9, 1912: "The leadership of the Democratic party in the State is now in the hands of better men than it has been for twenty years."

Josephus Daniels, referring to a statement published in the New York World:

"In yesterday's World there are opinions from perhaps a score of leading Members of Congress, most important of which is that from Hon. A. Mitchell Palmer, the brilliant Pennsylvania leader of Democracy."

"Palmer is a mighty good fellow, who has hobnobbed a good deal with President Wilson, and has made a record in Congress of which any young man may well be proud. He is clear, vigorous, versatile, with an attractive personality. Sandwiched between Penrose and Pinchot, Palmer looks like a winner. The odds are in his favor if Penrose runs."—Scranton Tribune-Republican (Republican).

"A leading member of his own party has characterized Penrose as a moral issue. He is that, and more. He is the political remnant of a regime that has gone, never to return. He is the last leaf upon the tree in the spring. He is out of harmony with the spirit of the times; out of sympathy with the present aspirations of the people; out of touch with the awakened conscience of the nation. He clings to a system which has everywhere been condemned and repudiated, because supported by interests which degrade the moral sense and impede the material progress of the people—a system whose operations have been characterized by studied defiance of the interests of the people and constant effort to promote those of the favored few. From his entrance into the Senate of the United States to this hour, he has bitterly opposed every forward step, he has gladly supported every backward movement. His voice has been raised at Washington as his hand has been felt at Harrisburg, always in the interest of special privilege."—A. Mitchell Palmer.

Put Best Foot Forward

"The State Democracy also put its best foot forward in the nomination of Vance McCormick as candidate for Governor, representative of the later leadership of the party and directly sponsored by President Wilson and his administration."—From Philadelphia Bulletin (Ind. Rep.).

The Philadelphia Press, a Republican newspaper, pays this tribute to Vance C. McCormick, Democratic candidate for Governor:

"It could be said truly, too, that the Democrats are fortunate in the person of the head of their ticket, Mr. Vance McCormick, for integrity of character, elevation of purpose, patriotic devotion to public duty as duty seen and felt, cannot be denied their measure of effectiveness in any party in any State."

"Vance McCormick is about as good timber as the Democratic party can trot out. He can keep the political pot boiling hot, and the shavener of Pennsylvania would be hairless."—Progressive News, Green-castle (Bull Moose). [McCormick is bald. Can you see the point?—Ed.]

"Vance McCormick, Democratic candidate for governor, is the calibre of a man the people of Pennsylvania need as a Governor. He has never been associated with the political gangsters and traders and his entire life is an open book."—Mercer Western Press.

PRIMARY ELECTION FORETELLS VICTORY FOR PALMER

Palmer received more votes than Penrose in 40 counties.

Palmer carried 33 counties over all candidates of all parties; Penrose carried 23 counties; Pinchot carried 1 county.

In 52 counties the Democratic vote exceeded the Penrose vote.

Penrose ran third in 17 counties; fourth in 5 counties, including Lackawanna and Luzerne, and fifth in 1 county, Wayne.

In 44 counties Penrose ran second or worse.

In 33 of these counties Taft had majorities in 1908, his total majority in them being 63,000; the Democratic primary vote exceeded the Penrose vote in the same counties by 39,000.

In 34 counties the Republican vote was less than the Taft vote of 1912.

In 65 counties Penrose, in 1914, received less votes than Taft in 1912.

The Democratic is the leading party in Pennsylvania and has first place on the ballot.

These are the Ministerial Associations which have repudiated Penrose, Brumbaugh, and the whole Republican ticket:

Methodist—Representing 100,000 churchmen.
Presbyterian—Representing 75,000 churchmen.
United Brethren—Representing 50,000 churchmen.
Lutheran—Representing 85,000 churchmen.
Reformed—Representing 60,000 churchmen.
All other denominations who have held meetings—representing 100,000 churchmen.

THESE ARE THE POLITICAL ASSOCIATIONS AGAINST PENROSE, BRUMBAUGH AND RUM

The Democratic party representing 425,000 registered Democrats.
The Washington party representing 210,000 registered voters.
The Dimick influence representing 112,000 voters.
The Roosevelt voters representing 445,000 voters.
The Prohibitionists representing 20,000 voters.
The Socialists representing 50,000 voters.

Do you think he can win? Do you want to get on the toboggan slide that will put Palmer and McCormick over? Do you want to be a member of the decent citizenship of Pennsylvania? Can you conscientiously vote for Penrose and Brumbaugh and look a temperance advocate in the face hereafter? Now is the time to enter the wedge that will forever separate the home from rum; the children from want; the family from poverty; and your conscience from wrong.

Stand Up For President Wilson

HON. VANCE C. MCCORMICK
Democratic-Washington Candidate for Governor.
Clean, Capable, Constructive, Conservative, Conscientious

Vance C. McCormick was born in Harrisburg, educated in the schools of that city and later graduated from Yale University. He is a member of the Presbyterian Church and is such an ardent and faithful member that he and his family which has inherited vast estates, farming lands, built of themselves the leading Presbyterian structure in Harrisburg at a wonderful cost to them. He, as Mr. Palmer, has his religious convictions and he has the sincerity, strength of purpose backed by an iron will to put those religious teachings to the front.

Mr. McCormick bought the greatest and grandest hotel in Harrisburg and immediately he barred liquor from its rooms and he never leaves the great hotel property to any one without a strict stipulation contained therein that no liquor will be sold within its corridors.

Can you imagine that a gentleman of such high ideals and stable convictions if placed in the Governor's chair can violate his promised and pledged purposes? He has no background for guidance for evil known to any one. His associates are all clean, capable men. Can he be otherwise and will he be otherwise? His election is sure if the people who believe in clean government stand and work for him and we think that the good people of Bedford County who have studied the immensity of the evils of the present government at this Commonwealth have as great convictions on the necessity of a change and the McCormick comes that they will stand up and vote for Mr. McCormick to a man.

William N. McNair
Democratic Candidate for Secretary of Internal Affairs.
Clean, Capable, Constructive, Conservative, Conscientious.

In William N. McNair the people have an expert on taxation for whom to vote. We have quoted a part of one of his speeches on taxation in this issue to show you what a clear vision this student of taxation has and how he puts it. This little extract alone proves his intellectual power more than any words we can use to show you.

He is a Lutheran in religious faith and graduated from Gettysburg College. He also stands for moral reform in every particular and will be consulted in framing any tax measures presented to the Legislature if elected to the important office of Secretary of Internal Affairs.

MONOPOLY TAXATION

W.N. McNair, candidate for Secretary of Internal Affairs on the Democratic ticket, advocated the placing of the burden of the cost of running the Government upon monopoly, and said:

"An income from a monopoly is an unearned income, while an income from industry is an earned income. If we were to point out what kind of income should bear the greater burden of taxation we certainly would say that incomes from monopoly being unearned, no labor being expended to receive such an income, that this ought to bear the greater burden of taxation, or at least they should be taxed as much as an income from industries, such as received by the farmer from tilling the soil, by the coal miner from digging in the earth, or by the mill worker or carpenter, or tradesman, as these incomes come from human exertion.

"As population increases, monopoly values also increase, and their income becomes greater. We see the great influence in land values in our cities; the increase in the value of the railroad stock as the community grows and the increase in the value of the street car stock as the city expands. The increment is created by the people—a community value and ought to be taken to pay the expenses of running the community.

"But today we pass up all these monopoly values in levying our taxes and place the burden of the cost of running the community upon the shoulders of men who have to labor diligently to get their small returns. It takes just so much money to run a township to pay its officials, keep up its roads, keep up its schools, and the other public concerns; but we find that the township officials are not allowed to tax street car companies and railroad companies which are doing a tremendous transportation business. They pay a tax of a few mills to the State only, while the farmer, who does a very small business with a pair of horses to haul his own products or his neighbors' products to the market, must pay on the value of his horses at least 20 mills, and in some places as high as 30 mills. Is it any wonder that the farmer goes backward, while the railroad magnate is always prosperous? Is it any wonder that people don't want to go to farming, when they have to pay each year such a heavy charge for the privilege of doing business?

That sounds as if that young Democrat has a few brains and is thinking of the people.

If Brumbaugh should be elected Governor of Pennsylvania and William Lauder of Riddlesburg should be selected as one of his chief advisers, and he undoubtedly would be, you can make up your minds to send your children to school half a day only for ten or twelve months of the year. Lauder is a long term man and he and Brumbaugh fought for a nine month school term when they passed the law. Do you farmers want to see that come to pass? Down in Philadelphia, they attend but half the day, and in Riddlesburg, Lauder's home town, they have school but half the day now and when a citizen objected and said he intended to see if the law wouldn't compel them to keep the school open all day, Mr. Lauder remarked that it was no use. The law put all that into the hands of the school board, and the School Code does. The people do not really know under what arbitrary laws they are bending. Brumbaugh and Lauder were the prime movers in the whole scheme.

TAXES! TAXES! TAXES!

Tax is one of the fundamental factors of government, for without taxes the wheels of Government would not move and chaos and confusion would result. Just and equitable taxes are paid without protest, but unjust and unequal taxes are strenuously resented by the average citizen. It was unjust taxes that caused the Revolutionary war, and history records many struggles with the ballot and with the sword on the taxation question.

At this time the taxation question is of prime importance, for if the Grand Old Keystone State shall forge to the front of the commonwealths of the U. S. then we must reform our tax laws and build a practical and sensible foundation upon which all the people are treated alike.

The taxes of Pennsylvania farmers and real estate holders have increased by leaps and bounds in the last twenty years.

Let us take a look at the tax situation as it exists in Pennsylvania today.

The farmer and the real estate holder pays an average of twenty-eight mills on the dollar on the assessed valuation while the corporations pay an average of four mills on the dollar on the assessed valuation.

It is estimated that the Corporations of Pennsylvania save forty millions a year that should be paid in taxes. The Farmers and Real Estate holders pay seven and one-half times as much tax as the big corporations, and WHY this great inequality of taxation? In Ohio the farmer and corporation pay both the same millage, namely, eight mills on the dollar of assessed valuation.

In Indiana six mills, in Iowa five mills, in New York twelve mills, in Nebraska four mills—Why those taxes any way?—To pay high salaries to an army of office holders, many of whom labor two to four hours per day and receive $125 per month to one thousand dollars per month. As an example, the Bigelow Highway Department expended on the roads five million; and nine million for salaries. Why do our sister States have a lower tax rate? First: The officials have lower salaries, in Nebraska the Governor receives $4,000 per year, while in Pennsylvania the Governor costs the taxpayers from seventeen to twenty-one thousand dollars a year. In our sister States $5,000 pays for the same service that costs the Pennsylvania Taxpayer $15,000. When all this is known, why is it not remedied; for the plain reason that the REPUBLICAN party has controlled the government of Pennsylvania for over forty years.

The history of all political parties is that when they are in power too long they plan to create offices at high salaries to strengthen their hold on the government, for they argue, the more office holders the greater the pull that can be exerted when election time comes around.

The office holder is expected and invariably does all possible to keep his party in power, first to save himself, and second to save those higher up, and who pays the freight—not Jones—but the farmer and real estate holder. The Pennsylvania Senate for twenty years has been in session for three purposes: First, to create offices; second, to raise the officers' salaries; third, to do the bidding of the Big Boss. The House of Representatives has passed fair and equitable tax laws for many sessions, but the Senate turns them down bodily because the Senate is controlled by the Big Corporations. This has gone on until it costs the State thirty-six million a year for salaries and expenses. Has the time not arrived to change all this? YES, and the remedy is vote for the Washington party candidates who are all pledged to support lower and more equitable taxation. Mr. VOTER, it is up to you. DO YOUR DUTY.

The Republican idea of handling the trusts was best exemplified by the splitting up of Standard Oil. The result of that separation was to advance the price of oil and the value of oil stocks. This result seemed perfectly satisfactory to the Republican leaders, as they have never manifested any desire to undo it.

FEED COTTONSEED MEAL TO BEEF CATTLE

Because of the abundant supply of cottonseed meal that there is likely to be in this country this year specialists in the department believe that the farmer has a better opportunity to make money by feeding beef cattle than for some years past. The feeding value of cottonseed meal has been recognized by agricultural authorities for some time and large quantities of it are exported annually to Europe where the farmers, especially those in Denmark, are also aware of its usefulness. It now seems likely that the price of cottonseed meal will continue to be considerably lower than in recent years, and the American farmer should therefore utilize it to advantage to make cheap gains.

Two causes combine to lower the price of cottonseed by-products. In the first place, the cotton crop in the South this year is good, and in the next the foreign markets have been seriously interfered with by the European war. It is estimated that this year 15,000,000 bales of cotton will be produced in the United States. This should yield 6,800,000 tons of seed. All of this of course, will not be crushed, but if last year's proportions hold good again about 2,000,000 tons of cottonseed meal will be available. Last year approximately 400,000 tons were sent abroad. Under present conditions it is not probable that anything like this quantity will be exported this year, and, as the cotton crop is larger than before, it is safe to assume that the quantity of cottonseed meal on the home market will be 500,000 tons more than last year. This situation has already resulted in a substantial drop in the price of cottonseed by-products. Cottonseed meal can now be bought in the South at prices ranging from $22 to $24 per ton instead of $27 to $31 demanded last year. An even greater decrease has taken place in the price of cottonseed hulls, which are now selling at from $4.50 to $5.50 a ton instead of $7 to $9 a ton.

At these prices cottonseed meal is approximately $15 per ton cheaper than linseed meal, and in addition its feeding value is a trifle higher. It seems obvious, therefore, that the cattle feeder all over the country should utilize cottonseed meal to a far greater extent than he has done in the past.

This meal is very rich in protein, and it is usually considered that its feeding value is at least twice that of corn. In other words, 1 pound of cottonseed meal is equal to 2 pounds of corn for feeding cattle. A small portion of cottonseed meal has an even greater relative value where the ration would otherwise be composed entirely of feeds high in carbohydrates, such as corn, corn stover, and timothy hay.

This is extremely important to cattle feeders throughout the corn belt and other States where much corn is fed. In Indiana, for example, it was found that the addition of 1 pound of cottonseed meal to a ration of corn and clover hay resulted in a saving of 1.37 pounds of corn and 1.41 pounds of clover hay. This means that if corn was worth 70 cents a bushel and clover hay $15 a ton, each ton of cottonseed meal fed the cattle saved the farmer $55.40 worth of other feed. With cottonseed meal at $24 a ton this is a net saving of $31.40, a saving well worth while.

As a matter of fact, cottonseed meal has been the principal concentrate fed the cattle in the South for years. In experiments conducted by the Bureau of Animal Industry it was found that with this as the only concentrated feed gains could be made on steers very economically: 350 pounds of meal often produced as much as 100 pounds of gain. When fed judiciously 6 pounds of cottonseed meal a day for a period of 100 to 120 days does not prove harmful to mature steers. If the steers are to be fed for a longer period, however, the amount fed should not be more than 4 pounds a day. For wintering cattle it is hard to find a better or more economical ration than silage combined with 2 to 3 pounds of cottonseed meal and a little fodder or stover. Mature cattle can be wintered on a ration of 30 pounds of silage, 2 pounds of cottonseed meal, and about 5 pounds of some dry roughage. On such a ration steers will pass through the winter in exceedingly good condition, and even gain something in live weight.

But in addition to its feeding value the fertilizing value of cottonseed meal is very high—so high, indeed, that often the fertilizing constituents in the meal are alone worth as much as or more than it now costs. When it is remembered that from 80 to 90 per cent. of this fertilizing value remains in the manure, the opportunities for profit that its use offers become even more obvious. To put the case in another way: When one includes in his calculations the enrichment of the land, he finds that feeding cottonseed meal to cattle costs him only 10 to 20 per cent. of the market price of the meal.

In view of these facts, specialists in the department recommend cattle

Tabernacle to be Located Corner of John and Bedford Streets

Union Evangelistic Meetings to Begin Sunday, November 15.

Plans for the Hamilton-Gold Tabernacle meetings to be held in Bedford under the auspices of the Lutheran, Methodist, Presbyterian and Reformed Churches of the town are progressing finely. The tabernacle committee has had two or three meetings and has already decided upon the location and size of the building and the plans for its construction. Mr. Ambrose Lessig has generously offered the use of the ground on the corner of John and Bedford Streets, and the committee has accepted this site, and regards it as a most fortunate location, as it is central to all the eastern and southern portion of the town, and within easy reach of all other parts, being only three squares from the public square. The tabernacle building, which will be 80 by 100 feet, with a seating capacity for two thousand, will front on John Street. The contract for the lumber has been placed with Mr. Charles Griffith. Mr. W. S. Arnold will be in charge of the construction, and the work will be done largely by volunteer laborers. The lumber will be gotten on the ground within the next week, and as soon as things are in readiness a day will be designated and a call will be made for at least fifty men. Mechanics, farmers, business and professional men, anybody who can drive a nail or saw a board and has any interest in this movement for the general welfare of the community is asked to help. Meals will be served free to the men for the day by the ladies of the churches.

Upon last Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Presbyterian Church the various committees appointed met for organization.

This was a most interesting and enthusiastic gathering of men and women and is a sufficient guarantee that all the details of the preliminary work will be carefully looked after. Following is a list of the committees as now organized:

What Republican Leaders Think of Penrose

"The loyalty of good Republicans is shamefully abused by self-seeking bosses like Boies Penrose, who tried to bind good men to work for evil and clean men to work for corruption. There should be no question of technical regularity when the ideals of Republicanism are being profaned and its good name is being stolen by men who use their Republicanism only as a cloak to cover their own schemes of spoliation. * * * The Republicans of Pennsylvania owe it to themselves and to the Republicans of the nation to tear the mask off Boies Penrose and to prevent him ever holding office again as a Republican."—(Extract from editorial, New York Tribune, October 1, 1914.)

feeders in all parts of the country to secure prices on cottonseed by-products and to take advantage of the cheap foods that they provide. No other form of concentrated feed, the specialists say, will prove as profitable as cottonseed meal this year. In the South the feeders have an opportunity to get these by-products at lower prices than at any other time during the last 10 years. Combined with farm-grown feeds, such as corn silage, they should be able to secure gains very cheaply and, with the present high prices for finished cattle, make good profits. Incidentally it may be said that if such a movement tends to strengthen and steady the market for cottonseed by-products, this will in itself be of considerable assistance to cotton growers in the South.

Inherited Defects Attributable to Alcohol

The influence of alcohol as a detrimental factor in inheritance is one which has not readily lent itself to convincing experimental proof in the past. During the last four years Professor Stockard of the Cornell University Medical School in New York City has been engaged in a study of the effects of alcohol in heredity. He has demonstrated conclusively that the germ cells of male guinea-pigs can be so injured by allowing the individuals to inhale the fumes of alcohol that they give rise to defective offspring although mated with vigorous females. The extension of these unique investigations, in which the offspring from the treated animals which reach maturity are usually nervous and slightly undersized, have further shown that the effect of the injury of the germ cells is not only exhibited by the immediate offspring of alcoholized animals, but is conveyed through their descendants for at least three generations. There are many instances of matings followed by negative results or early abortions, stillborn young or defectives. An instructive illustration was afforded in a case in which two of the four young animals were completely eyeless, the eyeballs, optic nerves, and chiasma being absent. Such defects result, according to Stockard, from the injury originally inflicted on the germ cells by the experimental treatment. Yet this injury may have been received by earlier generations only. Thus the parents were also untreated but their great-grandfathers were all alcoholized and their great-grandmothers were all normal animals. The defective eyes of descendants are due to impaired development, not to the direct action of alcohol. Plainly the germ cell is actually weakened, if not disabled by the alcohol treatment and all individuals arising from combinations involving such a germ cell are likely to be below normal. As The Journal of the American Medical Association says there is food for reflection in these facts.

Stomach Troubles Quickly Cured

People go on suffering from little stomach troubles for years, and imagine they have a serious disease. They over-eat or over-drink and force on the stomach a lot of extra work, but they never think that the stomach needs extra help to do the extra work.

If these people would take Tonaline Tablets regularly they would be a great big help to the stomach in its strain of over-work. No matter what you eat or drink Tonaline tabs sweeten your sour stomach and stop gas bloating in five minutes. The heaviness disappears, and the stomach is greatly aided in its work of digestion.

Tonaline

Tablets not only promptly relieve all distress, but if taken regularly will absolutely cure indigestion by building up the flabby overworked walls of the stomach and make them strong enough to digest the most hearty meal for 50 days' treatment. AMERICAN CLOTHES FOR AMERICAN WOMEN?

The New Silhouette Narrows at the Shoulder and Flares at the Ankle

SKIRTS FULL SHORT

New York, October 27.

"American gowns for American women" has been the slogan of patriotic Americans for years, but the women, undisturbed by the opinion of others, still worshipped at the shrine of Parisian designed clothes. This resulted in clothes, made in this country, but copied as closely as possible after the models imported from Paris.

The United States is not the only country that has tried to wrest from Paris the enormous amount of money spent each year by its countrywomen. The Queen of Holland requested the dressmakers of her country to design costumes inspired by their Dutch environments, but—the first thing all the worth-while people in this profession did was to hurry to Paris for inspiration, resulting in Paris gowns for Holland rather than in Holland gowns. Likewise, the Italian Queen tried to stimulate the Italian dressmakers by wearing only gowns made in her own country, but for all that they were distinctly Parisian in cut and style.

Just below the ruffle, not confining the fulness, was a velvet ribbon of grayish blue. It crossed in the back and was caught together in the front. Strands of pink climbing roses were becomingly placed over one shoulder.

The street and afternoon costumes were full short, perhaps ankle length and even shoe-top length. In all were shown the new silhouette which has replaced the fashionable bouffant effect so popular last year. This silhouette flares at the bottom of the skirt or tunic, the flare coming at the sides. At the back and front the skirt should be flat to the figure. In order to successfully obtain this effect, and the proper fulness, which is shown in the skirts, the fulness at the back is box-pleated in two or more large box-pleats which are pressed very flat. At the sides or front the skirt is gathered or shirred.

A stunning tailored suit for a young married woman, suitable for luncheons or afternoon bridge, shows the clever combination of the new black braid with velvet. The skirt has the full ripply appearance which is so smart without being really full. The coat is cut on the straight lines of a French soldier's uniform. This is called a Cuirass shape.

A dress which could be used for general utility wear, not too dressy for mornings and yet dressy enough for afternoons, was made from blue and yellow plaid. The model was called Rob Roy, because the idea was taken from the Scotch Highlander's tartan.

The coats, both for evening and for every-day wear, were strongly influenced by the Cossack coats. These are tight fitting at the shoulders and flaring at the bottom, usually trimmed with a wide band of fur. The fashionable fur-cloth, or velvet, can, also, be used for the bandings. These are, of course, very much less expensive. For the evening coats wonderful brocade materials, Oriental in designs and Oriental in weave, are used, heavily padded and interlined but usually with the outer lining of a rich and heavy satin in plain color.

A Basque Dress Showing a Flaring Skirt with Applied Bias Bands

The present war has given the designing and making of gowns here in the United States a new impetus, and one of the leading New York stores recently advertised an exhibition of suits and gowns made and designed in their own American workrooms. These costumes were shown on trained manikins and in most artistic surroundings. The result was wonderfully successful, although they were, in truth, so essentially under the Parisian influence that one could hardly call them truly American made. No doubt in the course of a number of such endeavors—while Paris is shut off by a wall of war—the home influence will be more apparent.

The gown which seemed to me most American was an evening gown of yellow brocade, the color of a California poppy. A wide girdle of pink velvet girdled the waist. The pink was of the color of the poppy petals at their base.

A charming dancing frock for the young girl, with waistline so short that it just escaped being pure Empire, was made of white chiffon. Triple flounces bound with satin formed the skirt. The satin binding causing each flounce to stand out. The waist was made with a rounded low neck, which came out well toward the shoulders, and was finished with a heading of its own. A three-inch frill fell from just below the heading. The sleeves were a mere frill of chiffon, bound on the edge. Wound gracefully around the bodice.

A Dress Developed in Velvet and Fur-Cloth

The wider skirts which are coming to the fore are often trimmed with graduated bias or circular bands, stitched onto the skirt. Such a skirt may be seen on the illustrated model. With this skirt is worn a basque waist having a U-shaped yoke reminding one of a man's starched shirt bosom. A frill of pleated chiffon is worn next to the neck within the collar of the material which stands up stiffly in the back. The fur-cloth, of which I have spoken en many times, is not only used for trimming, but, also, for the whole costume and for the separate skirt. Often it is combined with other materials, such as velvet or broadcloth. The costume illustrated is of velvet and fur-cloth. Velvet is used for the waist, which has a vest and collar of rich brocade, with cuffs of fur-cloth. A wide girdle is made of the fur-cloth. The skirt has a tunic of velvet while the underskirt is of the fur-cloth. A snappy little tricorne, with a jaunty fancy feather at the side, is the finishing touch to a stunning costume.

If the Republicans again gain control of the government, the tariff schedules will again be settled by interested parties. It is a principle of law that no man can rightly be a judge in his own cause. The Republican method of tariff making gave the manufacturers what they wanted. Meanwhile the defendant in the case, the consumer, was not represented. The present tariff is simply a sincere effort to hand out equal justice both to producer and consumer.

The Republicans are earnestly endeavoring to win back the Independent voters by nominating liberal and progressive men like Penrose of Pennsylvania.

American Magazine

The November American Magazine contains an article entitled "Edison in War Time in which is given a vivid account of the achievements of the great electrical wizard since the outbreak of the present war. In the same issue Ida M. Tarbell begins a new series of articles entitled "The Golden Rule in Business"—showing how it pays in dollars and cents, in personal satisfaction, and in human happiness.

Will Irwin, who was sent by the American Magazine to Europe to cover the war, contributes the first article in his series—an article entitled "Wreckage of War"—in which he gives a vivid and first-hand account of the German invasion of Belgium. Fiction and comic pieces are contributed by many noted writers. The Interesting People Department and The Interpreter's House are filled with good reading. Editorial announcement is made of a serial novel by David Grayson entitled "Hempfield," which is to begin next month.

WE KNOW REZISTOL

To Regain Your Strength and Energy

Report of the Hotel Physician in a Leading New York Hospital on the Cure of Brain Fatigue and Nervous Exhaustion.

"A few years ago we considered that we were doing well if we cured 10 per cent. of the cases of Brain Fatigue and Nervous Prostration brought to us, but since the introduction of Rezistol into our hospital we cure more than 90 per cent. of all the cases in its various forms brought to us. It builds new tissues, gives new energy, new life, new blood and strength to any part of the body attacked by these diseases."

Rezistol is a powerful tonic nourishing food medicine, composed of valuable tonic stimulants obtained from vegetable drugs. Rezistol contains no narcotics or other dangerous drugs which merely deaden pain temporarily but give no permanent relief or cure the cause of disease.

Rezistol is a powerful body builder and blood maker; it is the best remedy known to the medical profession to enrich thin, watery blood and supply new rich blood to the whole body.

It will be found a most valuable remedy in cases of over stimulation in which the excessive use of liquor causes depression, dullness of the faculties or intoxication; it counteracts the depressing effects and restores the system to its normal condition.

FREE—To prove the wonderful merits of REZISTOL we will mail a large sample bottle for 25c in silver or stamps for postage, etc. Rezistol Chemical Co., Boston, Mass.—Adv. 3 Oct. 14.

La Follette on Wilson

"Incidentally, the country rejoices that Wilson is President, not Roosevelt, whose recently expressed attitude towards disarmament confirms this judgment. The accumulating and increasing horrors of the European wars are creating a great tidal wave of public opinion that sweeps aside all specious reasoning and admits of but one simple common-sense, humane conclusion—a demand for peace and disarmament among civilized nations."

The author of this just and proper sentiment is Robert M. La Follette, not so long ago a hero of Roosevelt's, showered with praise by that dispenser of blame and of rewards. Mr. La Follette is nothing if not a keen observer of political currents and popular opinion, and in his Weekly he declares that President Wilson "today holds a supreme place in the confidence of the people of the United States," which is summed up in the simple phrase, "He is keeping us out of war." The praise Senator La Follette bestows upon him and Mr. Bryan is unreserved. Those who, like Mr. Roosevelt, mocked at Mr. Wilson's Mexican policy now offer up "prayers of thanksgiving" that we were spared a war in Mexico. As for the peace treaties, negotiated by Mr. Bryan, which Mr. Roosevelt scorns, the Wisconsin Senator declares that they constitute a "great service to the human race." From our observation of press and public, we believe that Senator La Follette is correct in his estimate of what the public is thinking. We can not but feel that Mr. Roosevelt's rehashing of his mistaken militaristic theories just at this time is as grave a political mistake as any of the many that he has recently made and that have caused his friends to wonder what has become of his once great political skill and intuitive knowledge of public opinion.—New York Evening Post.

FOR REPRESENTATIVE IN CONGRESS

WARREN WORTH BAILEY OF JOHNSTOWN

ON NOVEMBER 3d

Look for the name

WARREN WORTH BAILEY under "Representative in Congress," THE FIRST MAN, and put an "X" after it, like this:

WARREN WORTH BAILEY X

Mr. Bailey's history is too well known to require retelling. Has been resident of the district quarter of a century. As editor of Johnstown Democrat has been well known nationally. Is declared by Allentown Democrat to have put this district "on the map." Has been "on the job" continually since elected in 1912.

TAKE THIS TO POLLS AND USE AS GUIDE IN VOTING

A PERSONAL LETTER

Johnstown, Pa., Oct. 27, 1914.

Voters:

I am a candidate for re-election to Congress as representative from the Nineteenth district of Pennsylvania. I am unable to greet you personally and present my claim, but unless I sadly misjudge the people of the Nineteenth, they will not turn me down merely because I am here at the post of duty and doing my very best to hold up the hands of President Wilson in his magnificent fight against plutocracy and privilege. It seems to me that they are too wise, too just and too discriminating to make themselves responsible for returning a man from the Nineteenth to the Sixty-fourth congress who would spend the coming two years in doing his best to tie the president's hands and to undo all the president has accomplished by the aid of a sympathetic congress.

I ask your support in the election of November 3d.

WILSON URGES BUSINESS PEACE

President Endorses Palmer as Friend of Industry.

LABORED FOR STATE'S GOOD

Correspondence Shows Palmer Aided Manufacturers Where Penrose Had Failed—Philadelphians Convinced.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 31.

President Woodrow Wilson, in a remarkable call to independent Republicans, addressed in a letter to Powell Evans, of the firm of Merchant & Evans, of Philadelphia, has given his warm personal endorsement to the candidacy of A. Mitchell Palmer for United States senator. He also made a convincing appeal to those business men who abhor Penroseism, but fear Democratic economic policies, by showing that the problem of business reconstruction through legislation, is now completed, and that the manufacturers and business men of Pennsylvania may expect full co-operation on the part of the Democratic administration and congress, in adjusting themselves to the new conditions and in correcting any injustice that hampers their activities.

The president's letter refers to an exchange of letters between Mr. Evans and Chairman Roland S. Morris, of the Democratic state committee, in which Congressman Palmer's activity in behalf of Pennsylvania's manufacturers, in the construction of the new tariff law, and his successful influence in the house, is contrasted with Senator Penrose's failure to accomplish the same end in the senate. The famous "dumping clause," drafted by Congressman Palmer, to protect Pennsylvania's business men, is one instance of their activity.

The president's letter is as follows:

"My Dear Mr. Evans:—
"My friend, Roland S. Morris, has shown me your letter to him of Oct. 9 and his reply. The correspondence interests me so much that I am going to take the liberty—I hope that neither you nor he will think it an unwarrantable liberty—to add a word of my own to what he has written."

"The situation is just this: The constructive legislation which for the past few decades the opinion of the country has demanded, and which political parties have vied with each other in promising in one form or another, has now been enacted. The present European war is over and normal conditions have been restored. It will not be possible to determine how readily or how completely the business of the country has adjusted itself to the new conditions. When that is clear, instrumentalities already created will be ready and in operation which will show just where the laws are working in harmony with the facts and where they are not."

"Meanwhile, and for a long time to come, legislative questions will be questions of progress, of suiting means to new ends, of facilitating business and using to the utmost the resources of the country in the vast development of our business and our enterprise, which, I think, has but just begun. In such circumstances, what sort of man do you wish to have represent you in the United States senate—a man who wishes to hark back to the old conditions but cannot; a man who can, possibly, obstruct, but who can do nothing more, or a man with the zest and vision of a new age, a man full of the spirit of Pennsylvania as she is going to be? Is it not a matter of principle and of quality? Should you not have a man of high principle, not only, but a man with his face toward the future, ready to help make things, and not merely trying blindly to prevent things which cannot be prevented? If Pennsylvania wishes to be adequately represented in the great enterprises of the new age of free endeavor, Pennsylvanians can hardly, I should think, hesitate in making their choice of a senator."

"I have seen Mr. Palmer tested. I know his quality. Pennsylvania ought to accept and trust him and through him play her proper part in the constructive policies of a new generation. They will stumble if they walk forever with their heads over their shoulders. Men of your sort will, I am sure, be the last to do that."

—WOODROW WILSON.

POWELL EVANS

ASKS QUESTIONS

Opposes Penrose, Admires Palmer and Seeks Information.

Mr. Evans' letter to Chairman Morris, which was the occasion of President Wilson's letter, is as follows:

Philadelphia, Oct. 9, 1914.

"Mr. Roland S. Morris, Chairman, Democratic State Committee, Land Title Bldg., Philadelphia."

"My Dear Mr. Morris:—

"There are many independent Republicans who feel quite unable to vote for Senator Penrose, because of his gang affiliations and his record on everything but the tariff. There are further many independent Republicans who, while not objecting to Dr. Brumbaugh personally, do not like the way he straddled the above issue. Many of these men, I believe, do not consider that Mr. Pinchot, either in his political affiliations or in his touch with the state and the interests of its people, is a suitable candidate for the senate. What is left is a clean ticket, viz: the present state Democratic ticket."

"On the other hand, trade, commerce and manufacture represent the heart's blood of the life of this great community, and the Democratic party at present is thought by many to be in such discord, with the interests of Pennsylvania that it is almost impossible unless it affords some reasonable avenue of relief to liberally vote for its candidates. No reasonable, intelligent and honest man objects to much that the party has done during the past two years, many of us, however, many of these very things done; but in certain vital matters the party has gone farther than the conditions or necessities of the country warrant. In some respects many believe it was wrong in passing the Clayton bill, even in its final form as now announced. It certainly went too far with respect to the present tariff. Yet the Democratic party is committed to this tariff which it has passed and must uphold."

"Would not your candidates in this state issue at this time, however, at least agree to support a proposal that through some means the tariff will be examined critically in the near future, and where reasonable correction is justified, that it be corrected? In other words, would your candidates in this state issue be willing to propose to stand behind the proposal that some committee of the senate, government bureau or commission in some form begin a technical and fair examination of the tariff situation in this country, schedule for schedule, particularly with respect to those industries that have been really injured by this last new tariff; and, further, with particular respect to those necessities of this country not now produced here which the recent European war has shown we must produce to be independent, and in the main have not been produced because of foreign conditions and our tariff heretofore has made them economically the product of foreign nations?"

"If your candidates would take this enlightened and liberal attitude with respect to an examination and reasonable support of tariff corrections that the interests of the state made, I believe you could bring to your standards the cream of the independent Republican vote at this time, because such an attitude would relieve them of the great anxiety of stress under which they are living at present, and would enable them to support a clean set of men in an effort to politically rehabilitate this state, and, perhaps, to carry it, to continue the rehabilitation of this city."

Yours very truly,

(Signed) "POWELL EVANS."

CHAIRMAN MORRIS

ANSWERS QUESTIONS

Shows Palmer's Activity and Influence For Pennsylvania at Washington.

Chairman Roland S. Morris' reply to Mr. Evans was as follows:

Oct. 14, 1914.

"Your letter of the 9th instant received, I think with you in the mind of independent Republicans the issue made of the record of Senator Penrose is settled. We have proven our case, and the independent citizenry of this state, of which you are a charge made against his official and political career. The only doubt as to whether this will encompass his defeat lies in the uncertainty as to whether his continuance in the senate, despite all the objections to his past conduct, is necessary to assure that feeling of business security and confidence, the lack of which may create conditions unfavorable for the welfare and prosperity of our people."

"An examination of Representative Palmer's course in the senate ought to convince the business men of Pennsylvania that they may safely turn to him to accomplish the end of Penroseism and at the same time be certain that the representation in the senate as will accord with the best purpose of the really progressive men engaged in industry, both employer and employee, is that of a man who is not a protectionist of course; neither is he a radical in tariff revision. He defends the Underwood tariff bill, in whose making he played an important part. He believes as I do, on the whole, as any tariff law ever written, and that the country would never forsake it to return to the old Payne rates. So far as the proper course in the senate should be judged not alone by the Underwood bill, but by the efforts he individually made to shape its passage. Take, for instance, his course in connection with the so-called 'dumping clause.' He drafted this provision, devised to prevent foreign products from being dumped into the American market below home prices, a species of unfair competition bitterly complained of by Pennsylvania manufacturers, and which Mr. Palmer believed to destroy the very purpose of a real competitive tariff."

"He was strong enough to have this clause engrafted in the bill, and to have it stand the test of the extreme free-traders denounced him as a protectionist. To be sure, it went on in the senate, for you will remember that the senate in this tariff revision was more radical than the house for the first time in the country's history. Senator Penrose offered the Palmer dumping clause as an amendment in the senate, but it was rejected. Mr. Palmer, in the majority in the house, passed it. Mr. Penrose, in the minority in the senate, lost it. Is there not a lesson to be drawn from this circumstance, so significant of the power that Mr. Palmer could wield as a member of the senate?"

"Undoubtedly, time and changing conditions, such as those induced by the European war, may call for changes in the tariff law. To these principles the Democratic party has adhered, both in its legislative action. Mr. Underwood and Mr. Palmer both declared on the floor of the house that there might be instances of hardship in the bill which time would show the necessity of correcting. With this idea in mind, there was established the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, endowed with all the powers of the tariff commission of 1909. That bureau is ably officered and is engaged right now in the collection and tabulation of information upon which to base suggestions of changes in certain items and schedules in the tariff law, to be submitted to the ways and means committee of the house for action. Business development is too rapid in this country and the changes too swift and sudden to reasonably expect a tariff entirely equitable today to be equally so tomorrow."

"Mr. Palmer is a business man himself. For fifteen years a national bank director, actively interested in several lines of manufacture in his home town, he has had the usual broad experience of the highly successful country lawyer who is generally found to be the leader in all local activities. He represents a great industrial district. He has represented it longer than any of his predecessors, and it is no secret that he might have continued to represent it had he not chosen the harder task of ridding the state of the blight of misrepresentation cast upon it by the methods and policies of Senator Penrose, if not by the principles for which he is supposed to stand. Mr. Palmer's increasing majorities in his home district are striking evidence of the confidence reposed in him by the intelligent people of his district. He is in touch and in sympathy with the progress of the times. He is a young man, a part, and indeed a powerful factor, in the creation of the new regime of men of whom the country needs. I think you may safely conclude that the men capable of accomplishing what has so far been done, are equally capable of coping with this new crisis. With best regards, I am

Very sincerely yours,

(Signed) "ROLAND S. MORRIS."

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

HECKERMAN LETTER

Preparations for the Observance of Hallowe'en in the South.

Christiansburg, Va., October 26.

Here is a quaint old Virginia town. It is about a mile from the railroad station of the same name on the N. & W. Railroad. I think it is 40 miles southwest of Roanoke, Va. These folks are making big preparations to celebrate Hallowe'en. This is a festival occasion to which the Southern people pay more attention than any other in the whole twelve months. The merchants have been decorating their houses and stores for some time for this celebration. It comes on the last night in October.

Oh, yes that is the night when the ghosts walk and the hobgoblins squeak as at no other season. The spirits move around and exchange courtesies according to old legends. What fishing into the depths of the unknown. Angling for a fate for example which can give such a thrill to one's whole body as the tick of dropping a cord into a dark cellar and slowly winding it into a ball again or still more suggestions are the eating of an apple by the light of a feeble candle before one's mirror just at twelve, midnight, or still better the anticipation of fanciful dreams when one goes to bed immediately after eating the yolk of several hard boiled eggs quite liberally salted. Destiny tests and fortune telling are both essential to the proper celebration of Hallowe'en. Those who have always partaken of these celebrations will remember that there are tests that must be carried out in darkness and alone. Still many others are available for the gayest of festivals. One great reason for the popularity of Hallowe'en is the informality that prevails. No stiff evening dress is required at the merry entertainments.

Hallowe'en is rather a shirt sleeve and a shirt waist occasion, unless it be a mask party given for some of the pastimes which are liable to be a little rough and tumble, such, for example, as a scramble for nuts. I have seen a bag of nuts hung in the doorway and at a signal the leader of the party strikes this good and hard with a stick. Of course the bag bursts and the nuts fly in all directions with each and everyone of the party in hot pursuit. The one who gets the largest number of nuts is the one ordained by fate to accumulate the largest amount of this world's goods.

Almost innumerable are the merry doings of Hallowe'en and if the weather permits street carnivals will be indulged in by throngs of marked individuals. These parades are a popular feature of the night all over the land. The boys often throw cabbage stumps at doors, tear up walks and in many ways behave very roughly. The extremes are not so great nor the tricks so rough in the South as in the North. Here for all the weeks of October prior to the festival the stores have all sorts of grotesque masks displayed and for sale, and they tell me that it is astonishing the number of these articles which they sell for this one night's festivities. Let us all hope for a nice evening.

Almost every town of any size in the South has a wagon lot. This is a lot or small field in which the farmers and those from a distance can drive and feed their horses, mules or oxen and themselves as well. Here at Christiansburg Mr. Graham has for thirty years furnished this lot and he not only furnishes a lot but he furnishes a good sized house where the drivers can go in and sleep when the weather is bad. He has also had built a very large grate and allows these people to go to his coal pile and get coal and have a fire so that they may be comfortable. He has had an electric light put in the house. This has a switch in his bedroom some distance away and he can either have the large room in this home for the wayfarers bright as day or dark as a dungeon. Most of these men bring bedclothes along much as Sam Barnhart did fifty years ago. Mr. Graham allows no one to have liquor there is he knows it and he pretty generally knows for he has lived right here for fifty years and from the promptings of his big heart has for many years furnished all that I have referred to and done so without a penny of pay from anyone. All he asks of each one is for their good behavior.

I saw a man there the other night with a cow, a steer and a mule in one team. He had come from the mountains of Floyd County, back about 40 miles, to trade his butter, eggs and whatever else he could find at home or with his neighbors for such articles as his family required. When I saw him he had a little kettle fastened to the tongue of his wagon by a with and a little fire under the kettle to heat some water and have coffee for his breakfast. I see many odd things of a similar character.

Mr. Graham is a wholesale grocer and sells all the Fort Bedford products. Next to his house we have the Earle Dry Hotel and let me tell you it is one indeed in spirit and truth. Both Mr. and Mrs. Earle do all in their power to make you comfortable and as for feed, well I know of no hotel that sets a better table. The cooking is all done by white help and there is no rubbing of snuff about this ranch, nary once. We had last evening for 6 o'clock dinner meat, two kinds of potatoes, snaps, baked beans and pork, slaw, corn just out of the field, macaroni and cheese, sliced tomatoes and apple sauce. We also had the best butter you ever tasted for when put on your hot biscuit and covered with the best of apple butter it made a bite that would have made the Kaiser's mouth water. And more, we had several kinds of jelly and honey. Also had several ladies, school marm, to grace the table and when one said she liked the bachelors, blushed deeply when Dad asked her how old they must be. If any of your readers venture so far from home as Christiansburg, Va., remind them that the Earle Dry Hotel is the place where they want to stop.

Yours truly,

M. P. Heckerman.

Wanted--An Issue

The poor old Republican party is in dire condition. It has been repudiated, dismembered and deprived of the power which it wielded for many years in State and nation. It is endeavoring to "come back," to use an expression borrowed from the vernacular of the street. As an excuse for appealing to the voters for another lease of governmental authority it must have an issue. It must attempt to assign some reason why it should be restored to confidence, and those who have successfully conducted the business of the State and the nation for the past two years should not be allowed to continue the work which they have so well begun.

For months the leaders of the Republican party have been groping about in search of an issue upon which to base their fight in the pending campaign. They have reviewed minutely every act of the Democratic Congress and every administrative policy which President Wilson has advanced, but they have found nothing against which they could hope to wage a successful fight. They have sneered at one thing and attempted to criticize something else, but the public, which is well satisfied with the Democratic administration, has given no heed to their bickerings. They had expected that the tariff, for so many years the football of politics, would afford them an opportunity to go before the people again on that issue, despite the fact that the country has repeatedly declared in no uncertain manner that it does not endorse their attitude upon this question. The fact that the Underwood measure met all of the requirements of the Government and of industry without doing hard to legitimate enterprise and was working successfully and producing a surplus in the Treasury up to the time of the outbreak of the European war, which no measure could have anticipated and no party could have foretold, has made it extremely difficult for the Republicans to go before the people and expect to meet with favor upon that issue.

Currency legislation has met with such enthusiastic endorsement on the part of business men and bankers generally without respect to politics that it has been passed up entirely by the Republicans as an issue. Too many Republicans joined with the Democrats in voting for the anti-trust measures to make that available for a campaign issue. The closest scrutiny has failed to reveal anything objectionable to the numerous other remedial measures of legislation and they too have been ignored.

Turning from legislation to foreign policy the opponents of the administration at one time sought to assail the President's firm position, but the development of events with which the whole country is familiar has demonstrated even to the most captious critic that his attitude has been wise and prudent, and that if any other plan has been followed, this nation might at this very hour be involved in serious international difficulties. Republican criticism of the administration's foreign policy has ceased and in its stead there is almost universal praise of the careful course which the President has pursued.

When all else seemed to have failed the Republicans turned to "calamity" and sought to make that the slogan of their campaign. The calamity issue, which never had the slightest excuse for existence, except to aid the Republican party in getting back into power, "died a-borning." The effort to achieve success by making the people believe that they were a lot of bankrupts and paupers but did not know it has met with the fate which it deserved.

In its extremity the Republican party at the eleventh hour of the campaign is making one last desperate attempt to convince the people that the Democratic party is committing a grievous error in passing the emergency war revenue bill, and that it should be repudiated on that account. The issue is an unpatriotic one and the other attempted issues were futile. As President Wilson very properly said, the situation which has arisen as a result of the war across the sea is not of our making. The present tariff law like its predecessor was formed in contemplation of peace and a continuation of commerce and industry generally throughout the world. No tariff measure could be written in times of peace to meet a situation resulting from war. The statement of the Treasury Department issued at the close of the fiscal year and a month before war began showed its healthy and flourishing condition under the Underwood bill. War came and imports decreased. Of necessity, revenue decreased. The Republican party could no more have prevented that fact than the Democratic party, and it is absurd to attempt to maintain that it could. The Government must have a sufficient income to meet its expenses—expenses which were incurred upon a peace basis, and which are necessary for our existence and development—and no party can succeed which is so unpatriotic as to deny the Government the means of its maintenance. The Democratic party has adopted the best possible method of meeting the emergency, a method which the Republicans would most likely have adopted had they been in power, as they did when an emergency arose as a result of the Spanish-American war. The tax will not bear heavily upon the average man, and the Republican party is making, or trying to make, more fuss over it than are the people who will pay it. The Republican party is going down again in the sea of politics and it is grasping at a straw. The voters understand the situation and they cannot be deceived. They know that the President has acted wisely heretofore, they have confidence in him and are willing to trust him for the future, and so the Republicans are left without a single legitimate issue in this campaign. It is a sorry plight, but they deserve their fate.

Suffered Twenty-One Years-- Finally Found Relief

Having suffered for twenty-one years with a pain in my side, I finally have found relief in Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. Injections of morphine were my only relief for short periods of time. I became so sick that I had to undergo a surgical operation in New Orleans, which benefited me for two years. When the same pain came back one day I was so sick that I gave up hopes of living. A friend advised me to try your Swamp-Root and I at once commenced using it. The first bottle did me so much good that I purchased two more bottles. I am now on my second bottle and am feeling like a new woman. I passed a gravel stone as large as a big red bean and several small ones. I have not had the least feeling of pain since taking your Swamp-Root and I feel it my duty to recommend this great medicine to all suffering humanity. Gratefully yours,

MRS. JOSEPH CONSTANCE, Rapides Par. Echo, La.
Personally appeared before me, this 15th day of July, 1911, Mrs. Joseph Constance, who subscribed the above statement and made oath that the same is true in substance and in fact.

IS BASEBALL HONEST?

Every other man that you meet will say that professional baseball is crooked. He tolerantly regards the howling grandstand as childish. Why get so hot over what is largely stage play and a frame-up?

The remarkable outcome of the world's series contest this year must suggest a different point of view even to these superior skeptics. It is usually said that this series is purposely prolonged by the managers, to swell the gate receipts, yet the Boston "Braves" took four straight, though tens of thousands of dollars could have been had by letting the "Athletics" take a game or two.

There are few things in the world that absorb money so fast as a losing ball team, unless it be an unprofitable daily newspaper. Any manager can increase his receipts 100 to 200 per cent. by putting the team on a winning basis. True blue sports urge that the team be supported winning or losing. Human nature does not run in that groove. It may say it goes to the game to watch science in an impersonal way. But most men are not interested in strategy and skill unless it is displayed by the home team. A losing ball team is never a money maker.

Under these circumstances, a manager that "throws" a game against his own team is taking steps to cut his gate receipts in two. No sum available by crooked work could possibly make up for the losses that result from losing games.

Similarly with the player. Crooked work is under the white light of the thousand eyes, and a man's salary rises and falls with the success or failure of his team. No doubt there is crooked work in baseball, just as there is fool work in any kind of a business. But there is no calling where crookedness operates so instantly against the man who perpetrates it. It is burning his own money.

Why The Youth's Companion Should Be in Every Family

"If I could take only one paper," said the late Mr. Justice Brewer of the Supreme Court, "it would be The Youth's Companion—a little of everything in a nutshell, and unbiased." The Companion is a family paper in the completest sense. It provides reading that, without failing to interest the young, still interests the mature. It unites young and old through their common enjoyment of delightful fiction, agreeable miscellany, and the clear exposition of public questions.

So carefully is it edited, so varied are its contents, that it would easily supply a family with entertaining fiction, up-to-date information and wholesome fun, if no other periodical entered the house.

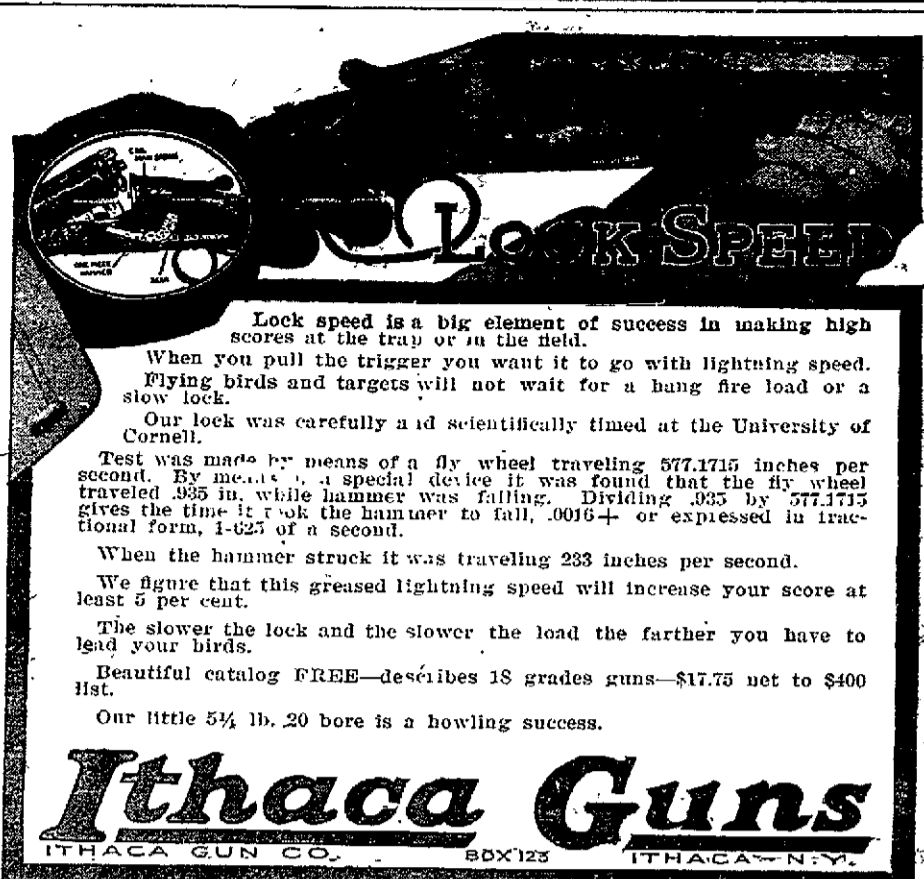

If you are not familiar with The Companion as it is today, let us send you sample copies and the Forecast for 1915.

New Subscribers who send $2.00 for the fifty-two issues of 1915 will receive free all the remaining issues of 1914, besides a copy of The Companion Home Calendar for 1915. The Youth's Companion, 144 Berkeley Street, Boston, Mass. New subscriptions received at this office.

Lock speed is a big element of success in making high scores at the trap or in the field. When you pull the trigger you want it to go with lightning speed. Flying birds and targets will not wait for a bang fire load or a slow lock. Our lock was carefully and scientifically timed at the University of Cornell. Test was made by means of a fly wheel traveling 577,175 inches per second. By means of a special device it was found that the fly wheel traveled 935 in. while hammer was falling. Dividing 935 by 577,175 gives the time it took the hammer to fall, .00164— or expressed in fractional form, 1-625 of a second. When the hammer struck it was traveling 233 inches per second. We figure that this greased lightning speed will increase your score at least 5 per cent. The slower the lock and the slower the load the farther you have to lead your birds. Beautiful catalog FREE—describes 18 grades guns—$17.75 net to $400 net. Our little 5 1/4 lb. 20 bore is a howling success.

Temperance and Blackburn? No.
You can't talk temperance and vote for Howard Blackburn. If you intend to vote for Blackburn keep your mouth shut on temperance, and be wise. Penrose will name the Republican candidate for Speaker of the House whether his party is in the minority or not as the result of the next election and Blackburn, who says he must stand by Penrose because the Rum interests nominated him, and Blackburn too for that matter, will for the same reason vote for the Republican caucus nominee for Speaker and that Speaker in turn will, if elected, name the committee to pass upon any anti-liquor measure presented and the whole thing will be pigeon-holed in that committee. Can't the people see that? If it should be reported out, the Speaker will have the reading clerk, for whom, also, Blackburn will vote, under his thumb and he will count a majority against it. This "party-right-or-wrong" policy is not a safe policy for the people to follow. Better keep a safe distance from it, as the Washington party is doing, or it will put you in a hole. If you want to talk temperance, vote for John S. Whetstone, the farmer. He stands for local option on a square basis, not on a straddling basis, and his whole party is committed against the Republican liquor traffic. We don't care to nurse that baby any longer. We used to do it, but since it has grown to so large proportions and wanted so much care and privilege we placed it in the loving arms of the Republican party who has fondled it ever since. But the Republican party hasn't been a wise foster. She has left the baby boss her until it has become unmanageable and wants to get out of the cradle and be daddy of them all, so the Democrats expect they will have to call this swell bird baby into a private consultation and lay the cudgel to it on November third next. Let every Democrat turn out to the disciplinary exercises next Tuesday, rain or shine.

HICKORY CHIPS
The fat woman probably doesn't consider life a dreary wait. In 1910 Tolstoy prophesied that a general war in Europe would begin in 1912 and last until 1925. It is hoped that he missed the latter date by more than two years. One thing that makes the western end of the war more interesting than the eastern end to the average reader is that it is confined to a few fairly pronounceable names and rivers. One statistician estimates that the war is costing Germany $135 a second, or $500,000 per hour, or $12,000,000 per day. This would stagger humanity if humanity were good at figures. Poor old Malthus never had an idea of what would follow the shooting of an Austrian grand duke or he might have revised his theories about increase in population. Thus far neither Villa nor Carranza has laid claim to a monopoly of divine support. They do these things more naturally in Europe. Sir Earnest Shackleton, sensible man that he is, has started for the south pole, it being farther away from the war than is the north pole. The quiet and effectual way in which Spain is keeping out indicates the bull fights aren't so awfully inhuman after all. Now that Marse Henry has been pacified, Herm Ridder is at leisure to discuss the more abstract phases of the situation.

FRIDAY MORNING, OCT. 30, 1914.

Their heads are solid bone, but they are shooting in facts at them anyway.

John Barleycorn gets his jolt again by having to help pay war tax. Nobody kicking except old John himself.

The Republicans voted for all the other Democratic measures but they could not stand for the tax on beer and whisky.

What the Old Guard Republicans really want and hope for is a return to tariff graft, wholesale, any tax which doesn't pass along a little something on the side doesn't please them. They love the box which jingles with coin for campaign purposes. There all their power lies. To cut out old John Barleycorn and high protection reduces their chances for campaign money. The people ought to know that not only in Philadelphia but right here in Bedford there is a corrupt gang masquerading as Republicans which trade off their party just as they do in Philadelphia. The Democrats have a bunch of those masqueraders also registering as Democrats and voting at the primaries as such in order to control the Democratic nominations and then at the general election they contribute and vote the Republican ticket. The whisky bunch has been doing that for years, ever since the time when licenses were sold.

They are not Democrats. They are not Republicans. They are whisky people and whisky dealers and they are now on the warpath for the Republican ticket, Penrose, Brumbaugh and others simply because they are for whisky. "They know their friends," as Neil Bonner says.

TO THE DECENT CITIZENS OF BEDFORD COUNTY:

You cannot help reading the papers and realizing that there are but two candidates now for the office of Governor. It Vance McCormick, the Democratic-Washington nominee, wins the fight, the saloons will not be in force many more years.

You must also assist in the election of Hon. A. Mitchell Palmer in order to lay Senator Penrose supinely on his back.

For one more time in our moral, social and economic lives we are forced to defend our home and our lives and the lives of our children. Will you help us by urging our patrons to vote right. One kind act for which the Almighty will commend you will be for all good brothers to get all the votes registered for the cause you can, and another good act most commendable will be for every Christian to man the polls on election day and make every vote count for us.

Write out a notice and place it on your wagon, or auto or lapel of your coat to urge every voter who has a decent, respectable home and family to stand by their virtues and defend their future prosperity and health by placing a decided vote against the infernal rum traffic.

You can do much to help us out of our trouble if you are worth a cuss. If you are not worth anything you belong to the other side, which will give you all the assistance you need to make you still more worthless. They will take your money until you have no more, then they will kick you into the street and drag you into the lockup. They will turn you into an infernal fool. They will make you sick at heart, if not at the stomach, they will destroy your home, make your children go without food and clothing. They will do any and everything to show you that they are the greatest enemies you have living if you only have sense enough to see it.

Intemperance is the source of nearly all the criminality, all the poor houses, all the destitute homes, all the insane homes, all the brutality of husband and father to family, all the weakened hereditary tendencies, all the premature deaths.

Great God, gentlemen, when will you have the courage and manhood to stand up for the right of yourself, and children to enjoy good health, peace and happiness. No man wants a drunkard for a bank clerk or cashier, for a store clerk, for a hand on the farm, for a laborer in the mills or on the railroads. A drunkard is not wanted any place. The government won't tolerate it. All business eliminates it. The liquor dealer won't use it because he cannot do business under its influence but he can do business if you use it.

Do not keep your tongue to yourself nor keep this confidential.

Fraternally yours,
The People of Pennsylvania.

BLACKBURN'S POSITION AND POLICIES UNCERTAIN

Can anyone tell where Howard Blackburn stands on any question? Where does he stand politically? Is he a Republican or Bull Moose? Can you tell by his paper? Where does he stand on local option? Can you tell by his paper? He prints a temperance column and shifts the responsibility on some other person in order not to offend the liquor interests. Then he all at once assumes responsibility for the same column and thus helps the liquor cause. Can he be trusted in Harrisburg? Does he say where he stands in regard to an principles. He says he is for protection. He is against it. Penrose is and the only way to find out where Penrose stands is to find out where Penrose stands. He is waiting for guidance.

Does he stand for a Child Labor Law? We can't for the life of us tell. Does he stand for Conservation of our Natural Resources? Can't tell. Nobody knows and Howard doesn't know either. Does he stand for lower taxes for the people? Don't know. Won't commit himself but rather think he wants high taxes. His party does and has been soaking them on good and heavy for many a year. Is he for the corporations or for the people? Don't know that either. His professed Republican party stands for giving everything to the corporations and leaving them to go free of taxation and we suppose Howard does too, because he says he is a firm believer in Republican principles. He says he is for protection. Protection of Liquor, Corporation, Special Privilege, Wealth, Gambling, we suppose he means. The other meaning of protection, is Protective Tariff and he can hardly mean that for they settle the tariff question at Washington and Howard is a candidate to go to Harrisburg. Surely he can't have the two places turned around in his mind!

The best way for all you farmers to do is to vote for John S. Whetstone. He is opposed to high taxes. He believes in making the big corporations pay the same amount of tax in proportion as the farmer pays. He opposes this grabbing and grunting of these big concerns at the cost of the farmer. You farmers ought to know that because you know Mr. Whetstone is a farmer himself and he would not vote against his own or your interests.

Besides being for lower taxes or an equal taxation bill he is for a Workmen's Compensation Law, a Child Labor Law. He believes in Conservation of Natural and Material Resources. He believes in a Referendum Bill, Recall Initiative. He believes in protecting our forests, good schools, good churches, good rural credits and everything which will help to make our country life better and happier.

He is opposed to Bigelowized roads but favors good roads wisely and economically built.

He stands for a local option law. He says that in a farmer-like style. He does not write a page of verbal stuff to make you dizzy when you read it nor does he say he is for it and then question its wisdom. He mainly says that "he stands for a Local Option Law" and he means it. He does not doubt its propriety nor does he use a fluency of words. The former puts you in a straddling position and the latter insists that he is not sure that you have confidence enough in him to believe in his sincerity in the matter. The former is the editor-candidate's style and the latter is the preacher-candidate's style. But the farmer's style is to say the most in as few words as possible. The preacher says the least in as many words as possible and the editor does both and is not sure of either.

BELITTLED THE REPUBLICAN MEETING

We were accused last week of belittling the Republican mass meeting held here a couple weeks ago. We were not aware that we went before the truth so far, unless the approximate truth would belittle it. However, if the truth belittles it we want to add a few more belittling facts that we have learned since.

When the special train came in from Hyndman and brought a complete frost, which was seconded by the more complete frost from the train from Altoona, some Republican bones began to shake for fear no one but town people would turn out. So the leaders in their frenzy got busy with the phones and telephoned to all points along the Huntingdon and Broad Top to bring out a crowd at any cost.

Sixteen Republican satellites brought up about 30 boys, William Lauder called a few from Defence and other points and was so incensed over some not attending that he wrote scathing letters of rebuke after he went home. Some Democrats came up on the train but we are not aware that Mr. Lauder can control them as he used to do for he has lost his power in old Broad Top.

The Everett Bigelow parasites coaxed and pleaded for every one to turn out and attend the "Rump Convention" omitting the "p" in Rump if you wish, which swelled the crowd some. The expenses for this crowd which must have been large, is not being paid by Bedford County. It is coming from outside the State that no account may be filed and sworn to. We are aware of a check for eighteen dollars issued from Ipava, Fulton County, Illinois, which we tried to get hold of but could not since the party requests that it should not be seen and should be kept strictly confidential. We know on whom the check was drawn, to whose order and all any way and we know that it was turned over to the chief Penrose worker in the little burg. If the expenses of all the automobiles were equal to those at Rainsburg we figure that he meeting cost $200 or $400 for that part of it at

Comparison of Brumbaugh and McCormick by the North American, in a letter to Dr. Brumbaugh

Extract From Letter
"Last we be misunderstood, however, we declare that we hold Mr. McCormick in very high esteem. As an executive and administrator we regard him as your superior. His practical knowledge of the evils of misrule is greater than yours. In capacity, industry and force he is certainly your equal."

Moreover, his declarations have been exact, definite, incapable of misconstruction; while yours are misty, vague and superficial. You have no advantage over him in integrity or repute. He is as tireless as he is courageous. And he knows the practical side of legislation, while you do not; he is familiar with the issues before the public, while you are not; he is familiar with the issues before the public, while you are not; he is familiar with the issues before the public, while you are not.

Another notable thing in that great crowd of men, women and children and baby carriages was the absence of "Shorty" Grove from Everett. He has always been a gang leader but his pleasant face was not here. Didn't he get paid or a free ride?

When Dr. Brumbaugh said that he would make the State Road Department non-political, which he didn't mean at all, he was just "foolin' the crowd looked cross-eyed, pigeon-toed, pow-wow'd and turned black. No applause! No sir! That interferes with the machine. He never mentioned Penrose's name, the selfish school master! Why Penrose put him where he is and Penrose and Rum will put him where he wants to be if he gets there at all.

When Harry Houck said that they plurality would be 300,000. Everybody laughed. The Philadelphia Press said Tuesday that they would have 98,000 majority. If they figure that way for another week they will be licked by 198,000.

Harry James, the Republican Rum chairman, reported to the Philadelphia Press that Pinchot will poll 490 votes in the county. Maybe he figures that they have "all come back" as these gangsters are so anxious to say. If Harry would go over to the Roosevelt meeting in Altoona, he would have thought the Taft remnant had all gone over. The fact is that they are all live wires yet and when Penrose's vote is counted Harry will find out that none have "come back" but a great many more have gone over.

The Democrats will stand by Palmer of course. Palmer is perfectly right on the liquor question and he stands by President Wilson. Pinchot would not. Pinchot would stick a chord in Wilson's side every time he heard the Democrats who admire Wilson cannot conscientiously vote for any other than Palmer. No matter where our sympathies are, Democrats should vote where it will help the people most and that is for the Democratic candidates. We have put some figures before you this week in The Gazette that we hope will help you to decide in favor of your own ticket. President Wilson and Secretary Bryan ask you to stand firm to your convictions of Democracy. Mine gained 10,000 votes over 1912. Pennsylvania ought to gain 75,000 over 1912 and that will more than put Palmer over. McCormick will gain 150,000 or more and his election is assured.

I think we will have some good reading for Harry after election. We cannot see where their $1,000,000 liquor fund is helping their cause, at all.

We are at a loss to know where John M. Reynolds is in this fight. Rather than sit in waiting to see how Roosevelt is going to bob up in this election. If he has a better chance than the Republican leader, Penrose, he will likely shout himself hoarse for the Bull Moose.

These are the members of the State Board of Education, which has made it possible to place upon your shoulders and upon your backs a school tax of 25 mills to the dollar; has vexed, harassed and embroiled you with the compulsory vaccination law for a year or more and deprived your child of an education even when the child was unable, physically, to be vaccinated.

Martin G. Brumbaugh, William Lauder, David B. Oliver, George M. Phillips, John S. Rilling and James M. Coughlin. They are all the strictest kind of Penrose Republicans except John S. Rilling, who is a Democrat.

Lauder and Brumbaugh want the children vaccinated and the people taxed and highly taxed. Mr. Lauder boasts of the financial portion of the School Code, which includes 25 mills on the dollar. Are you wise as to where your votes should go this Fall to destroy this throne of plutocracy and high finance? This is the system and part of the scheme to tax you out of existence. As a good old Republican remarked, that it won't be long before these wealthy men will freeze us all out and take everything from us. The good old farmer was right. This excessive taxation, grabbing and grafting by the wholesale will eventually put you an your back financially. The Republican party is an advocate of a high tariff tax and a high school tax and a high road tax and a high state tax and a high hunter's tax, and a high real estate tax and a high personal property tax and a high dog tax and a high county tax.

By their system of high taxation, which they have manipulated for years, they rob you of food for your table, shoes for your feet, clothing for your body, education for your children, a home for your shelter, pleasure and enjoyment for yourself and family. Two things they do give you; one, they give you all the hot air they can as to your peace, prosperity and protection, and what is more, you seem to be leatherheaded enough to believe that twaddle, when at the same time you are worrying night and day about from whence your money is coming to pay your unjust and unreasonable taxes to keep the Sheriff from the door on the morrow, the very opposite of Peace, Prosperity and Protection.

The other and second thing they give you is all the whisky you can drink to drown all your troubles and worry under this peaceful wing of this overly good party. It's the party to put you to sleep.

Can You See Consistency in This? This Shows the Rum Influence, Even Down to the Smallest Office

The following Temperance notes compiled by Rev. George W. Faus, pastor of M. E. Church, Bedford, were sent to the Bedford Inquirer in which Rev. Faus, on the solicitation of Mr. Blackburn, its editor and Republican candidate for the Legislature, has edited a column on Temperance and for which Mr. Blackburn says he is not personally responsible.

Mr. Blackburn turns down emphatically the notes and comments on the communication, thus assuming responsibility for this column of his paper which at other times he declined responsibility, which action puts him squarely on a deceptive basis and places him on record for liquor and all for which it stands.

By not assuming responsibility in previous issues he stands personally with the whisky element the Penrose Rum Ring, and tries to place his paper on the no whisky side by having Rev. Faus to conduct the writing. In turning down the following article he still places himself on the side of rum by assuming responsibility for the column in this issue and casting out an article for which he clamored before. The notes and Mr. Blackburn's rejection follow:

The following is a sample of the letters sent out to the saloonkeepers of Pennsylvania by Neil Bonner, President of the Pennsylvania Federation of Liquor Dealers:

Philadelphia, Pa., September 10th, 1914.

My Dear Sir:

I am addressing you this letter trusting that you will consider it as strictly CONFIDENTIAL.

You cannot help reading the papers and realizing that there are but two candidates now for the office of Governor. IF VANCE C. MCCORMICK, THE DEMOCRATIC NOMINEE, WINS THE FIGHT, YOUR LICENSE WILL NOT BE IN FORCE MANY MORE YEARS.

WE MUST ALSO ASSIST IN THE RE-ELECTION OF SENATOR PENROSE.

KEEP THIS COMMUNICATION CONFIDENTIAL.

Fraternally yours,

NEIL BONNER.

Opinions differ according to ones viewpoint. This is clearly shown by the following statements from two men both of whom are deeply interested in the results of the coming election in Pennsylvania, as it affects the liquor traffic. Read their statements and then stop and think a few moments.

"BILLY" SUNDAY

The Rev. William A. Sunday, the most noted evangelist and most hated foe of the liquor traffic in the country.

"There is just one question in Pennsylvania politics today—booze or no booze—and it is a warfare and a fight to the finish. The blight and the curse caused by hellish liquor traffic is a thousandfold more distressing to happiness, peace, prosperity, manhood, womanhood and childhood than the terrible war now raging in Europe, as awful and heart-rending as it is. The victims of King Alcohol are numbered among the millions. Now is your chance to strike a blow against the damnable traffic by supporting every candidate who has announced himself in favor of local option and against booze. Don't show the white feather, for it is the fight of Heaven against hell, sobriety against drunkenness. Go to it, boys, in the name of God."

NEIL BONNER

President of the Pennsylvania Federation of Liquor Dealers and vice president of the liquor dealers' national organization.

"The Republican party of Pennsylvania, led by Boies Penrose, is the friend of liquor dealers, and I am pleased to say that they are laying aside their partisanship for the benefit of the business in which they are engaged, and are rallying to a man to the aid of the Republicans."

"I have been a Democrat since boyhood, and have always voted the straight Democratic ticket, but this year I will have to vote the straight Republican ticket. All the liquor interests throughout the State will vote the same way. 'Conditions demand it.'"

Bedford, Pa., October 21, 1914.

Rev. George W. Faus,
Bedford, Pa.

Dear Sir:

We regret the necessity of returning your copy of temperance notes but under circumstances we scarcely believe that you would expect us to publish the same.

The writer, you know, is a candidate for Representative and is pledged to local option legislation; but we are conducting a Republican paper and the enclosed article is a bitter tirade against the Republican party. In view of the fact that there are some excellent men upon our ticket who stand right upon this question, it would seem neither right nor consistent for us to try to work their defeat by reason of what is being said concerning Senator Penrose.

Respectfully yours,

E. H. BLACKBURN.

Commenting on the above reply we infer that "circumstances" determine whether Mr. Blackburn is for temperance or not and whether he will support the cause in his paper. The circumstances are that he is now a candidate for election. He is on a ticket supported by Rum. He cannot antagonize that element. "God save the Commonwealth." He is pledged to local option, he says, but he is pledged to no responsibility for the temperance column in his paper and in times of great stress and extreme cases he assumes responsibility, and that is, when he must publish something against Penrose and the Republican ticket, which is the rum ticket.

Mr. Blackburn in his reply says that the notes are a bitter tirade against the Republican party, which is as false as can be. The article which Bonner writes is in favor of the Republican party in toto, Mr. Blackburn included. There is no bitterness in the notes that we can see. They give the facts and the column gives Rev. Faus responsibility, not Mr. Blackburn. When he is a candidate is the very time that he should publish them unless he is playing for the whisky vote and he is just the same as Brumbaugh is. "God save the Commonwealth" from Penrose, Brumbaugh and Blackburn.

"I am not objecting to the size of these enterprises. Nothing is big enough to scare me. I am not objecting to the extent of the business, and, least of all, am I objecting to people getting rich from conducting business with prudence, but what am objecting to is that the Government should give them exceptional advantages, which enable them to secure but does not put them on the same footing as other people."—Woodrow Wilson.

An Unentangled Government

"We represent the desire to set up an unentangled government, a government that cannot be used for private purposes, either in the field of business or in the field of politics; a government that will not tolerate the use of the organization of a great party to serve the personal aims and ambitions of any individual, and that will not permit legislation to be employed to further any private interest."—Woodrow Wilson.

HOW ABOUT PENROSE?

In last week's Inquirer Dr. Bolton says "I fail to find a vote cast by Senator Penrose that is not in favor of the home, the church, the Sabbath and all the Christian institutions, etc." Were is not better to give concrete examples rather than abstract declarations?

Here is something definite—Penrose failed to vote on these important matters—The Confirmation of Daniels on the executive Session Motion, on Woman's Suffrage, on the Steel Trust investigation, on the Seamen's bill, on the eight-hour bill, on the question of hamstringing the Parsons Post, on the Republic Coal bill, on the Alaska Railroad bill, on the Hetch Hetchy bill and on the Panama Canal Tolls repeal.

He voted against direct election of Senators in favor of Lorimer on every vote. In favor of Archbold and against the Webb bill. Against the right of postal employees to organize. Against the Administration Currency bill. He failed to vote on labor exemption. Out of 571 roll calls in the 1914 session he answered only 31 times, and these statements are authentic, from Congressional Record.

Why not let intelligent voters judge between Mr. Penrose's record and the preacher's mere assumptions? The editorial (?) on first page of same issue "When Penrose was Boss," implies credit to him for the supposedly good things named therein. Might it not be just as fair to say we got the good things in spite of him? I happen to know that in one of the departments you praise this is true, for men were pushed into its employ totally unfitted for their duties, but they dare not be turned down for "Penrose had sent in their names." While the chief of this department has largely eliminated this class, Mr. Penrose deserves no credit.

As to the conservation of our natural resources, is it not true that about all that means, is the purchase of large tracts of nearly worthless land because the timber has been taken off and the big lumber lobby wants to unload? Tracts which give no promise of greater humidity because they are so frequently fire-swept that they produce no permanent growth of timber.

The value of the State Constabulary depends on your view. If you call it good to have them on hands to crush out the efforts of mine and mill workers to better their conditions and get a more equitable share of what they produce, then you have it. But don't forget, they have never yet been called out to compel greedy employers to do the square.

There does not seem to be nearly such enthusiasm for Penrose from the working class as from the booze crowd.

As to the good roads thought, generalities is less confusing than facts. When it takes nearly twice as much to run our farms and orchards as we get from them, we will be doing what our great Highway Department is doing, except that, lacking the inspiration of a big appropriation in our case, the Sheriff will kindly relieve us of further worry.

Fourteen million dollars for roads, $5,000,000 on road, $9,000,000 largely, for graft, is absolutely poor house-keeping; 8,827 miles taken over by the State and 217 miles completed or under contract, and much of that so poorly constructed, at such unjustifiable cost, that it needs expensive repairs so soon that it hardly justifies moving the road machinery away, does not come under the "Good Roads" movement, which we stand ready to help.

An intelligent and honest study of Penroseism will only be fair to all parties, on that let it and every other important issue stand or fall, but let us not forget that the greatest good that any legislature can accomplish for the people, is the passage of an honest, not a deceptive, Initiative, Referendum and Recall bill for the practical management of our own affairs by ourselves.

A bill that is strongly opposed by Mr. Penrose and those who stand with him; a plan of legislation that is bitterly attacked by "special interests" and the booze crowd, is the very best reason why we ought to secure it.

I have tried in what I have written to be fair to Mr. Penrose and possibly that is what he and those who stand for him most fear.

Let us have light.

A. C. Richards.

Dr. Chas. J. Hemminger is present member of the Assembly from Somerset County, and has a notable record against Penrose, Bigelow and Booz. He is thoroughly hated by the Penrose Liquor Gang, for they know by experience that he cannot be scared, driven or influenced.

He was called to the Governor's office on different occasions and asked to come across to the Gang, but even the Governor could not influence him from the paths of right.

He voted for Local Option, State Prohibition, Anti-treating and closing of saloons on Sunday, and pledges to do likewise if elected.

The Methodist Episcopal, Presbyterian and Reformed Churches of Saxton are co-operating in an evangelistic campaign to begin next Sunday and continue during the month of November. The first service will be held in the Reformed Church at 2:30 p. m. Sunday, November 1st.

Rev. Daniel S. Toy, D. D., and Prof. Oliver Arnold, Jr., are the evangelists whose services have been secured for these meetings. Dr. Toy is well known as one of the ablest evangelists in the country. Prof. Arnold has assisted a number of noted evangelists in large cities on both sides of the Atlantic.

William C. Barnhart

William C. Barnhart died at his home on East Penn Street Monday evening, after an illness of several months' duration. He was a son of the late Jacob and Mary (James) Barnhart, and was born at this place March 18, 1860. On September 21, 1899, he was united in marriage with Miss Annie E. Dicken of Bedford, who, with two sons, Jacob Edward and Emory Robert, survive. He is also survived by three brothers and one sister, Calvin C. of Los Angeles, Cal.; Orin D. of Grand Junction, Colo.; Harry C. of New York and Mrs. E. W. Woodruff of Pasadena, Cal.

The funeral services were held yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home and was conducted by Rev. George W. Faus of the Bedford Methodist Episcopal Church. Interment was made in the Bedford Cemetery.

Mr. Barnhart was a member of the order of Maccabees of Pittsburgh. He was a carpenter by occupation, was a kind husband and father and a most excellent neighbor.

PERSONAL NOTES

People Who Move Hither and Thither in This Busy World.

Mr. J. W. Gilven and family and the Misses Steckman motored to Wilmington and return last week. Mrs. John Culp and Mrs. Elias Ball of Schellsburg were among our recent visitors.

Mr. and Mrs. William C. Smith of Cumberland Valley were Bedford visitors last Friday.

Mr. A. J. Crissman of New Paris transacted business in Bedford last Friday.

Messrs. Calvin Stiffler, J. E. Reighard and Charles S. Sill of Bedford Township were recent business callers at our office.

Mr. and Mrs. William T. Lee and little son Donald of Altoona were guests on Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Lysinger, East Penn Street.

Dr. and Mrs. W. T. Lotz of Johnsbury were guests several days this week with the latter's parents, Attorney and Mrs. Frank E. Colvin.

MENTIONED IN BRIEF

Many Items of Interest From Town and County.

L. D. Blackwelder has secured an option on the Bedford House. Plans will be made public later.

A marriage license was issued in Cumberland this week to Frank David Shauf and Minnie Mack of Hopewell.

Mrs. Percy Mock is a patient in the Western Maryland Hospital, Cumberland, where she underwent an operation last Saturday. She is getting along nicely.

The Ladies' Aid of St. John's Lutheran Church of Cessna will hold a pumpkin pie and box social at the Grange Hall Halloween night. Ice cream, cake, sandwiches and coffee will also be served.

A consulting engineer of one of the leading heating companies of the country was in Bedford on Monday making plans to bring the exhaust steam from the Electric Light Plant to heat the business and dwelling houses on Pitt and Penn Streets. This mode of utilizing exhaust steam from a power plant is being worked very successfully in larger cities and will undoubtedly prove satisfactory in Bedford.

Miss Alice Colvin, a student at Wilson College, Chambersburg, is ill of typhoid fever. Her mother, Mrs. Frank E. Colvin, spent several days this week with her.

Bedford Sends Christmas Box to European Children

The Loyal Temperance Legion Room was a center of attraction the past week as the liberal donations were received by a committee for the Christmas ship to set sail for Europe on November 3.

With delight the L. T. L. boys and girls, together with the Mercy Band, Sunday School and Epworth League children and other interested citizens brought their gifts which were numerous and most practical.

Clothing of all description, toys, books, dolls and cash contributions were sent on Monday to the various committees in charge at Philadelphia, the box to the Child Federation Christmas Receiving Station, City Hall Courtyard; and the cash to J. Ernest Richard, West End Trust Company, Philadelphia.

In all such ministrations to suffering humanity there are great life lessons being taught our youth and none more practical than—"It is more blessed to give than to receive."

W. C. T. U. Institute

On Thursday, November 5, the Bedford County W. C. T. U. will conduct an institute at Schellsburg which promises to be one full of interest.

Mrs. Azubah Jones, State Organizer, is expected for the institute sessions, which is an assurance of a "live" program.

Local Union members attending are reminded to take their luncheon. Two sessions—10:30 a. m. and 1:30 p. m.

L. D. Shuck, County President.

A Call for Prayer

In view of the great moral issues at stake in the coming election, the Bedford County Woman's Christian Temperance Union has given a general call for prayer on the eve of November 3, or election day.

In Bedford, cottage prayer meetings will be held in various parts of the town Monday evening, and each hour of Tuesday some church bell will ring as a reminder of voters of the sacredness of the ballot as it shall be cast for or against the home.

U. S. Court Jurors

The following Bedford Countians have been drawn to serve as jurors at the next session of United States Court which will be held in Pittsburgh beginning Monday, November 9: Grand Jury, Andrew Dodson, Bedford; petit jurors for first two weeks, Charles O. Brumbaugh, New Enterprise; Mason Burket, Mann's Choice; Frank Campbell, Hopewell; second two weeks, William S. Reed, Bedford; third two weeks, John P. Cuppett, Bedford; Stanley S. Gump and Sylvester Ritchey, Everett.

Reed-Weicht

John H. Reed of Lutzville and Miss Clara Weicht of Everett were married at the Friend's Cove Lutheran parsonage on South Richard Street, Bedford, on Wednesday, October 28, by Rev. J. J. Minemier.

Woolf-Worthing

Samuel Woolf of Johnstown and Miss Ethel Worthing of Riddlesburg were married on Thursday of last week in Johnstown by Rev. Walter Everett Burnett. After a wedding trip to Buffalo and Niagara Falls, they will reside in Johnstown.

Friend's Cove Lutheran Charge

Economy and Old Age

Thousands of persons neglect to save between the ages of twenty and sixty. To them comes one day the that they have been spending not only their income, but their principal of youth, health, strength, ability, and time.

Keep Your Savings and Your Savings Will Keep You

But it is unwise to keep money idle or in hiding where it may be lost, stolen, or burned. It is even worse to put it in risky financial ventures which show their absurdity by the fabulous profits offered. Better be safe than sorry.

In this Old Reliable bank your money is safe and it will earn interest for you if desired, or be paid to you on demand if you need it. Bank your money.

It is a source of pride for American inventiveness and industry that Butterick, the first paper pattern the world ever saw, is still first in the appreciation of women.

A TAX ON MAIL ORDER HOUSES

The petition of many thousand retail merchants, that a portion of the war tax might fittingly be placed on mail order houses, will no doubt be attributed to the feeling of business rivalry. It is always unpopular and unconvincing to advocate a policy that seems to attack a competitor.

Yet on the matter of taxation, the retail merchant is often at a very unfair advantage. Peddlers come in to his territory and hawk their wares from door to door. Not having any settled place of business, the majority of them escape taxation on their stocks of merchandise. The gain that comes from buying goods of a roving vendor who is not contributing to the cost of running local government, is a very doubtful kind of profit.

The competition of the mail order house, as respects taxation, is much the same character. These establishments are big and substantial. No doubt they pay large taxes where their place of business is located.

But the retail merchant finds it necessary to keep goods on hand where the public can see, touch, and handle them. This gives him a stock of large tangible value, accessible to the eyes of the tax gatherer.

The mail order house, meanwhile, is paying taxes in some distant city, which help to build up none of the communities where its business is located. It sells goods by catalogue cut, and its patrons take the goods on faith. The stock kept on hand, though it may be large, must be relatively small when compared with the amount of business done. Consequently the mail order house must pay relatively small taxes.

Since the business of the mail order house covers many states, and often the whole country, it would seem only fair that it should pay a special tax to the general government. It must "get by" easily on a local tax based on tangible property in sight.

We have just received information that the First National Nurseries of Rochester, N. Y., wants lady or gentlemen representatives in this section, to sell all kinds of Roses, Shrubs, Trees and Seeds. They inform us that without previous experience it is possible to make good wages every week. Any one out of employment write them for terms and enclose this notice. Sept. 11, 84.

All persons having sale bills printed at this office get a free notice in the sale register. This is worth several times the price of the bills.

Everybody will have tuberculosis in Bedford County now. Dr. William C. Miller is in the county but he doesn't have time to bother with his Magic Lantern Machine now. It's the other machine that he is working now, to keep himself in a good job at Harrisburg. George Helzel's job is at stake now, too. They are all yelling for Penrose.

Penrose has had 20 or 25 years of public office.

Brumbaugh has had 20 or 25 years of public office.

Houck has had about 40 or 50 years of public office.

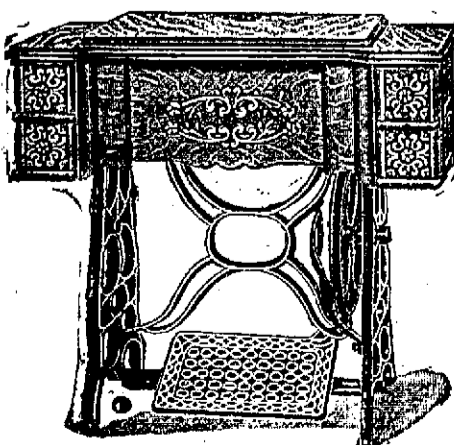

Blackburn has had 15 years of public office.
